On the Cover:

This year Clemson will honor its Centennial Team members on the cover of each program. This week we honor six Tiger greats, four of whom were receivers. Gary Barnes was one of Clemson's best in the 1950s and he went on to a pro career. Jerry Butler and Perry Tuttle were back to back All-Americans at the position in the 1970s and 1980s. Joe Blalock was Clemson's first two-time All-American, regardless of position. George Fritts was an all-star lineman between 1939-41. Brian Dawkins is the youngest member of the Centennial team, as he played for the Tigers just last season.

Clemson-Wake Forest Series

Clemson holds a 47-13-1 advantage in the series against Wake Forest, but Wake Forest has beaten Clemson two of the last four years. Clemson Head Coach Tommy West is undefeated against Wake Forest as a head coach, or an assistant. Clemson was a perfect 8-0 against the Deacs between 1982-89 when West was a defensive assistant coach, and Clemson is 2-0 vs. Wake Forest since West became Clemson head coach in 1994.

Clemson was victorious last year at Winston-Salem by a 29-14 score, as Nealon Greene completed 18-25 passes for 239 yards. Emory Smith scored four touchdowns in the contest, the first Tiger to do that since Terrence Flagler had four scores, also at Wake Forest, in 1986. Clemson had over 200 yards rushing and over 200 yards passing during the heavy rainstorm that night at Wake Forest.

Clemson gained a 24-8 win over the Deacs in 1994, the last time the two teams met in Death Valley. Louis Solomon established an all-time Clemson record for rushing yards by a quarterback with 159 in the Clemson victory. Wake Forest won at Clemson in 1993 by a 20-16 score, and at Wake Forest in 1992, 18-15. That 1992 Wake Forest victory broke a 15-game Clemson winning streak in the series. The 1993 Wake Forest victory was the first for the Deacs at Clemson since 1961. Clemson has a 23-6 advantage in the 29 games that have been played at Clemson Memorial Stadium and has outscored the Deacs in those games by a 727-384 count.

Clemson has had trouble scoring points against Wake Forest in recent years. In the decade of the 1990s Clemson has averaged just 22.7 points per game against the Deacs. In the 1980s, Clemson averaged 36.6 points per game against Wake Forest and won all 10 games.

Clemson Ground Game Successful vs. Deacs

One reason Clemson has won 17 of the last 19 against Wake Forest has been a solid rushing attack. Clemson has outrushed Wake Forest all but one of the last 19 contests, the 1992 game at Wake Forest when the Deacs won the ground attack 153-137. Clemson has gained at last 200 yards rushing against the Deacs in 10 of the last 13 years, including each of the last two years. The Tigers have outrushed Wake Forest 573-145 in the two games Tommy West has coached against Wake Forest, and Clemson has averaged 264 yards per game on the ground against the Deacs since 1981 (15 years).

Clemson has had 12 100-yard rushing performances against Wake Forest over the last 18 years, including Raymond Priester's 27-154 yards last year at Winston-Salem. In fact, with Louis Solomon's (17-159) against Wake Forest in 1994, Clemson has had a 150-yard rusher against Wake Forest each of the last two seasons. Clemson is 10-1 when it has a 100-yard rusher against Wake Forest over the last 18 years.

In terms of total offense, Clemson has had at least 400 yards of total offense against Wake Forest in four of the last five and six of the last eight years. Clemson had a record 756 yards against Wake Forest in 1981, an 82-24 Clemson victory, still the highest scoring game in ACC history.

Wake Forest Update

Wake Forest enters this game with a 2-2 record, victories over Appalachian State and Northwestern and a loss at Georgia Tech and to Virginia. Northwestern was ranked 11th in the nation entering the game, Wake Forest's first win over a top 25 team since 1979. Virginia, also ranked in the top 20 of both polls, defeated the Deacons last week, 42-7.

They tore the goalposts down at Wake Forest after the Deacs win over Northwestern, and justifiably so. Wake Forest scored on a 30-yard touchdown pass from Brian Kuklick to Desmond Clark with 51 seconds left to win the game. Clark had five catches for 84 yards and caught two touchdown passes in the contest.

Kuklick, who leads the ACC in total offense this week, showed his ability in the two-minute offense as he was 8-10 passing with two scores on two fourth-quarter touchdown drives. He is the prime reason Wake Forest leads the ACC in passing offense with 245.5 yards per game. Deac quarterbacks have thrown just three interceptions in 136 attempts so far this year. Clarke was a bright spot for Wake Forest last week against Virginia as he had nine receptions for 113 yards and he now has 21 receptions for 288 yards, tops in the ACC in total receptions and reception yards.

Simmons has 12 career double figure tackle games in his 15 games as a Tiger.

John Lewis a senior running back from Elizabethtown, NC, is the top rusher for Wake Forest with 159 yards in 46 attempts. He had a career high 97 yards rushing in the victory over Northwestern. He had just 304 yards rushing all of last season.

Defensively, Wake Forest is led by the Biblical duo of Moses and Solomon. Kelvin Moses is a sophomore linebacker from Hartsville, SC who has 50 total tackles, one of the high figures in the ACC. He had 101 tackles as a freshman last year, including 14 against Georgia Tech. D'Angelo Solomon is a junior defensive back from Decatur, GA who stands only 5-8, but has 29 tackles and a pair of interceptions. He also leads the team in pass deflections with three.

Coach Jim Caldwell is in his fourth year at Wake Forest. The former Penn State assistant under Joe Paterno red-shirted 20 of his 23 freshmen last year and is building a solid foundation at Wake Forest. He also has been an assistant coach under Dennis Green at Northwestern, Bill McCartney at Colorado and Howard Schnellenberger at Louisville. A highlight of his head coaching career came in Death Valley in 1993 when he became the first Wake Forest coach in 32 years to lead the Deacs to a win at Clemson.

Priester Closing in on 2,000 Yards

Raymond Priester is now just 102 yards away from the 2,000-yard rushing mark. Priester had 81 yards in 22 attempts and scored a touchdown at Missouri and now has 233 yards for the season and 1898 yards for his career. Priester moved into number-14 on the Clemson all-time rushing list with his performance at Missouri and will soon become just the 13th player in Clemson history to reach 2,000 yards, just the second Clemson running back in the 1990s to reach that plateau. Rodney Blunt, who completed his career in 1993, had 2173 career yards and still ranks ninth in Clemson history.

Priester now has 1898 career yards in 374 attempts and has scored 10 touchdowns. He has a career average of 5.07. Next on the rushing chart for Priester is Joel Wells, who had 1937 yards between 1954-56. Clemson's career rushing leader is Kenny Flowers (1983-86), who had 2914 career yards. Terry Allen, now the top rusher in the NFL with the Washington Redskins, had 2778 between 1987-89. Allen played just three years.

Greene Approaching 3,000 Yards Total Offense

Nealon Greene had a season high 212 yards of total offense in Clemson's 38-24 loss at Missouri. Greene completed 11-18 passes for 160 yards and also picked up 52 yards rushing. He currently ranks seventh in the ACC in total offense with an average of 129 yards per game.

Greene now has 2979 career yards of total offense and needs just 21 against Wake Forest to become the 10th Tiger in history to reach 3,000 yards. Only one Clemson quarterback in the 1990s has reached the 3,000-yard mark in a career, DeChane Cameron, who played between 1988-91 and ended his career with 4226 yards of total offense.

Greene now has 387 yards of total offense this year, 337 passing and 50 net yards rushing. His 2979 yards of total offense for his career are divided between 2398 passing and 581 rushing. Clemson's career leader in total offense is Steve Fuller, who had 6096 career yards between 1975-78. Fuller was named the starting quarterback on Clemson Centennial Team this year. Rodney Williams, now on the Clemson radio network broadcast team, is the only other Clemson player over 5,000 yards of total offense. Williams accumulated 5510 between 1985-88.

Greene had his first 200-yard total offense game of the season against Missouri, the sixth of his career. Clemson has a 4-2 record when he has a 200-yard total offense game. Greene had a passing efficiency figure of 132 in the Missouri game, his best of the season. It marked the first time in eight games that Clemson lost a game in which Greene had a passing efficiency rating over 130. Clemson had won seven in a row when Greene had a rating of 130 or better dating to the 1994 Georgia game when he had a 131 rating in a loss at Athens.

Simmons Nearing 200 Tackles

Butkus Award candidate Anthony Simmons recorded a season high 16 tackles at Missouri, the third straight game in which he has led the Tigers in tackles this year and the 12th time in his 15-game career that he has led the Tigers in tackles. Simmons already has 39 tackles this year, 18 first hits and 21 assists and leads the Clemson team in tackles for loss with six.

Simmons had 150 tackles to lead the Tigers last year and now has 189 tackles for his career in just 15 games. He obviously needs just 11 tackles to reach the 200 mark for his career. He will become the first player in Clemson history to reach 200 tackles just 16 games into his career. Simmons averages 12.6 tackles per game for his career, ahead of the record pace of 11.2 tackles per game established by Clemson's all-time tackle leader Bubba Brown, who had 515 tackles between 1976-79.

Simmons has been a model of consistency with 12 double figure tackle games in his first 15 games as a Tiger. The only games he failed to reach double figures in tackles came last year against Virginia (6), Maryland (8) and Syracuse (8). His career high is 19, set last year against North Carolina and South Carolina.

Simmons has his 39 tackles this year on just 147 plays, or a tackle every 3.8 snaps. Last year the native of Spartanburg averaged a tackle every 3.94 plays. Thus, Simmons has averaged a tackle every series of downs over the first 15 games of his career.

Greene had his career high in passing yardage against Wake Forest last year.

Smith Has 22 Career Touchdowns

Emory Smith scored his second touchdown of the season at Missouri and now has 22 touchdowns, including 21 rushing, for his career. Smith now ranks tied for 11th in Clemson history in total touchdowns with his 22, the same number accumulated by Terrence Flagler and Steve Fuller. Smith also has 132 career points, 19th best in Clemson history. For the year, Smith has 78 yards rushing 22 attempts, and now has 1322 career rushing yards, 28th best in Clemson history.

Andy Ford

By Jessica Reo

To be recruited to a college in the south, one renowned for its football program, in the heart of football country, is difficult, but coming as a package deal, well, that's even tougher. But that's the way Andy and Peter Ford came to the Clemson Tigers, and it's difficult to tell who got the better end of the deal. Clemson University gained two reliable, four-year contributors if not starters, and the Ford Twins are receiving an education that both value immensely. But, it's the journey that brought them to Clemson that is amazing.

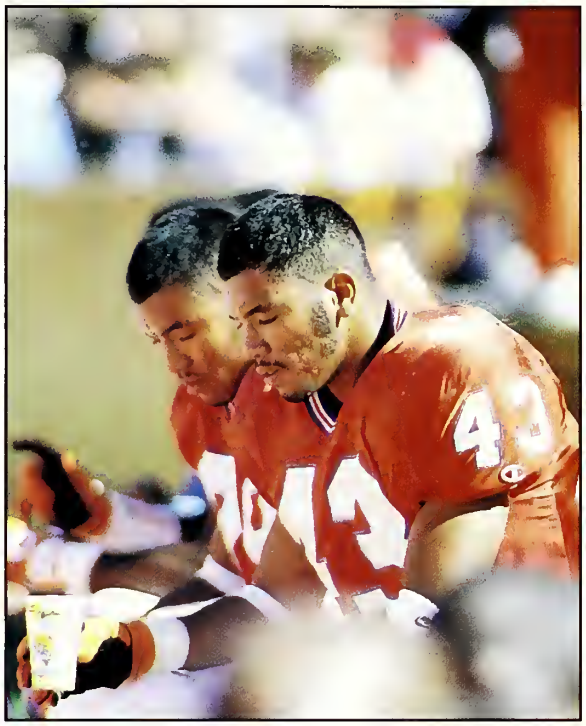
The Ford's have had a long road to Clemson University, not just a trip up I-85 from the small southern town of Sumter. They have traveled the world and back, literally, to get to this point in their lives. And it is here that both have continued to define themselves as two separate individuals, with two different, though similar, looks at the world. But even though they are separate people, they are never really far apart, mentally or physically, and probably never will be.

After their adoption at 14 months old by John and Pat Ford, the twins were moved around frequently due to the military background of their father. With their travel around the world, both were exposed to an education beyond that of school.

"We traveled a lot. We lived in Germany and France, along with lots of places in the United States, I've been to Austria, France, England, Italy. I've learned that one good thing about moving and traveling is that you meet a lot of different kinds of people so you can't be prejudiced against a group because you have to live with all of them," says Andy. "One thing about the military, there are no color lines, you have to get along with everyone."

Middle school was in South Dakota, high school in Sumter, South Carolina, time was spent living in Hawaii . Opposite ends of the world, in more ways than one. "It was empty out there in South Dakota. Just one straight road with barely anything," says Andy. His favorite place? Hawaii. "I loved Hawaii, there was a lot to do there and the weather was nice."

Though they came as a package to Clemson, the "Twins" are inherently different, much to the surprise of those who see them for the first time. There is no physical evidence of a difference in the two men, they are the same height, the same weight, have the same haircut, even have the same handwriting, and look at everything with the same intensity. They even sound the same when they speak, but it's the words that are different. That's how an educated observer, a friend, wife, or parent can tell them apart, but even then, it's difficult.



The Ford twins have been reliable members of the secondary for four years. They don't spend as much time together as they used to, as Peter was married last summer.

"Our parents tried to dress us differently, I think not only so that they could tell us apart, but so we learned that we don't have to be the same person, that we can be individuals. Pete and I grew up knowing we were two different people. We got to choose the way we wanted to be," states Andy.

"I can tell them apart," says Raymond White, one of Andy's roommates this year. "I don't know how, but they are just different. I think they look different." Which is difficult to believe if you see the two together and in person. "They are together almost all the time, but that changed, only a little bit, last year."

Andy's first physical 'break' from his twin came when Peter was married. For the first time in their lives, the brothers were separated by a household where Andy lives with current Tigers Raymond White, Jason Collins and Mond Wilson. "It's not that bad," says Andy. "I'm used to it. It's not that much of a change," considering the two see each other in practice and are on the road together throughout the season.

Asking a twin for the differences he sees in his brother is a little difficult, but Andy sees things a little clearer than most. "I think it's our attitude that is different. Pete is more outgoing, more outspoken. I keep to the side a little bit more and don't say as much, especially on the field. Pete yells and is a little more outspoken and I just try to keep quiet and play my game."

"Andy hit the nail on the head," says defensive backs coach Charlie Harbison, who is in his second year as Andy and Peter's coach. "He's more reserved than Peter. Andy is hard on himself. He wants to be perfect on the field and that shows me that he cares about what he does out there."

Change is something Andy learned about early in life. Andy and Peter were adopted in Korea, moved around the world to different military bases, and found a stable setting for four years in Sumter and now at Clemson. Change is something he relishes and sees the advantage of, even in the coaching profession.

"I came in with Coach (Ellis) Johnson as my coach, then we moved to Coach (Miles) Aldridge, and now Coach (Charlie) Harbison. It's been difficult because you don't know what to expect from the new coach, but I think it's helped me because I've seen different coaching styles. You get a better understanding of the big picture and how it is all done."

This year, though Andy is listed as first-team at the cornerback position, there really is no difference expected in playing time between he and brother, Peter. Andy suffered a knee injury in preseason practice that required surgery and he missed two weeks of practice. He was in the starting lineup on opening day.

In the past, Andy has had an up and down career due to injury with the Tigers, starting five games at the outset of 1995, getting injured, and trading places as a starter with Peter for the remaining seven games. The 1994 season was not much different, starting the first three games of the season and relinquishing the role again. Throughout the challenges that have beset him, ankle injuries two different years, Andy has an outstanding look at the game of football, and the game of life.

During his senior year of high school, Andy sustained an injury that almost took him out of the football 'game' altogether. His foot was paralyzed when he injured a muscle in his calf. The muscle swelled, causing the paralysis and that caused a few schools to lose interest in Andy, but not Peter.

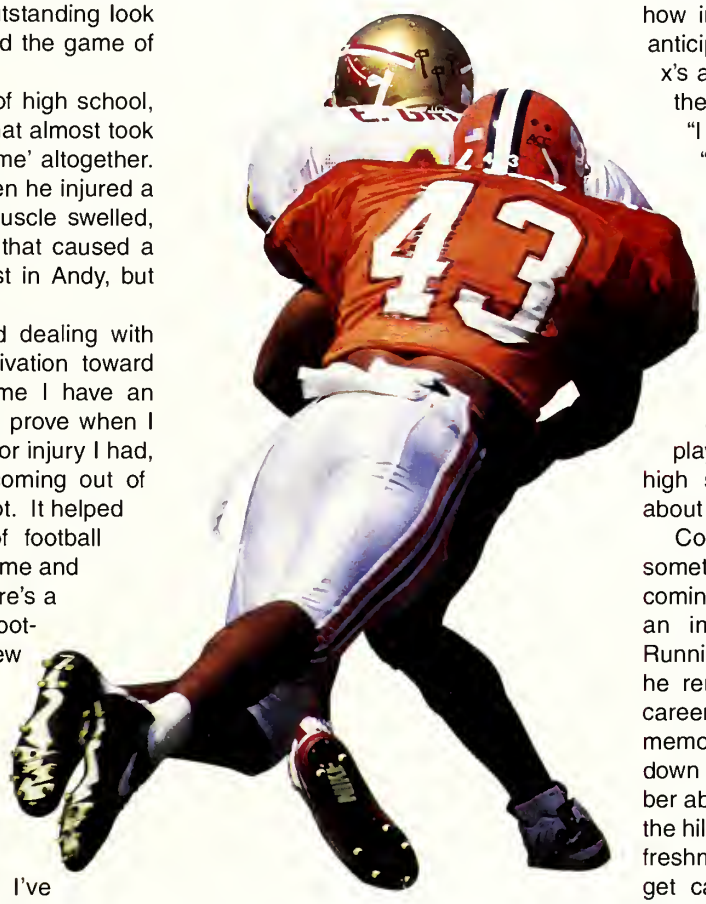
"I think my injuries and dealing with them has helped my motivation toward playing football. Every time I have an injury, I have something to prove when I return to the field. The major injury I had, the paralysis in my foot coming out of high school, helped me a lot. It helped me evaluate the game of football again and what it meant to me and it made me realize that there's a lot more to life than just football. It made me take a new approach to the game."

It also made him take another look at the avenue he was taking to make it to college, and how important education was to him.

"Since the paralysis, I've known that I need to get an education, I need to go to school. Anything can happen, any time and nothing can take away my education," says the business management major. But he also wants the best for the season and the coming years and he knows that his time has come to take a step forward and hold on to his leadership role.

"My personal goal is to help this team be the best it can be. This team has a chance to be something special this year and I just want to be a part of it and do the best that I can. Now, instead of sitting back and listening to people, I have to be the one to speak up, but I'm ready to do that." According to coach Harbison, Andy is definitely ready for his leadership role. "Andy leads by example rather than by words. He does anything I ask and that's important. He understands the game of football by watching what goes on around him," says Harbison.

Understanding the game of football is an important facet of the cornerback position as with any position on the field, but the difference is that if a cornerback misses a play, or misreads a play, the whole world can see the mistake. That responsibility alone could shake anyone, but it has been something that Andy thrives on. "If Andy misread a play, he withdrew into himself. I've told him to forget about it, to get on with the game. He's so hard on himself because he cares so much about the game," says Harbison. "That's what makes him a good football player."



Aside from learning about the world, knowing that his education is a primary part of his life, Andy continually prepares for the future. His long term goal, after graduating from Clemson with a business degree, is to open a restaurant in New Orleans. "I like New Orleans because I love jazz. I like the gumbo that they have down there. I like the hot and spicy food. I'd like to open a jazz club."

But ask him where he wants to live and you get a different answer, at the opposite end of the world, or so it seems. "I think I'd like to live in Seattle, because it's beautiful country up there. I haven't been there, but my parents lived there for a while and they said it was beautiful. I've seen pictures and I've always wanted to go there," says Andy.

Being around different coaches over his career in football has given Andy an interesting outlook on the game, on coaching, and on building tradition and how important it is. He has learned to anticipate the action of the game, to love x's and o's of the game, and to relish in the history and tradition of the game.

"I think about coaching," says Andy, "but if I do coach, I'd like to coach high school football. When you get past high school, football is more of a business, especially in college and in the pros. I think the most fun you have playing football is in high school. You can just go out there and have fun and you don't have to worry about anything. Now, if you don't play, you're going to sit the bench. In high school, you didn't have to worry about that."

Coming to play college football was something that Andy wanted to do, and coming to a school with tradition became an important aspect of that school. Running down the hill is one of the things he remembers when he reflects on his career with Clemson. "I think my favorite memory of Clemson is Pete and I running down the hill last. The first thing I remember about my career here is running down the hill. We always went last. I did that my freshman year because I didn't want to get caught in the pack and fall down. Then, it just became a tradition for us," says Andy. "We wanted to do something different so that everybody in the stadium could see just us."

Running down the hill at Clemson Memorial Stadium has probably been the shortest "distance" Andy Ford has had to travel to get anywhere in his entire life. It is a road that he looks forward to 'running' every Saturday that the Tigers play at home. He, like his brother, is excited for the coming year and defining himself as Andy Ford, football player, business graduate, and twin brother.

Dr. Deno Curris

Midway through his first year as president of Clemson University, Constantine W. "Deno" Curris addressed a faculty meeting by saying that he truly felt like a freshman at times—"excited to be here, but sometimes not sure exactly where I am." But by year's end, Curris had earned the ultimate compliment when an alumus said,

"When I talk to him about Clemson, I feel like I'm the newcomer."

Curris hit the ground running when he became Clemson's 13th president on May 22, 1995. Among his early accomplishments were fine-tuning the academic reorganization of 1994 by adding a fifth college, establishing benchmark institutions to give students, parents and the public a way to measure Clemson, and setting out to fill key appointments.

Other high priorities included acquainting himself with the history and culture of Clemson, advocating Clemson's legislative goals in Columbia, and meeting members of the "Clemson Family" throughout the state and nation.

He also assumed a national leadership role of his own, being named to the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, and becoming Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Before coming to Clemson, Curris served as president of the University of Northern Iowa for 11 years and as president of Murray State University In Kentucky for 10 years before that. His presidencies at both universities were periods of growth and advancement, and he sees Clemson as another institution well-positioned to move ahead.

"Clemson has effected significant organizational and program changes to position the university and its students for the 21st century. Our task in the years ahead is to use this foundation and to build Clemson into a strong university with national stature and visibility," he said.

To help build Clemson's reputation and stature, Curris outlined three goals for the coming year.

First, in order to improve the educational program, Curris established a committee to define what makes the Clemson experience unique.

"I believe this definition is a necessary first step in building Clemson's reputation for the quality of our education programs and the capabilities of our graduates.

Second, he has established a goal of $50 million annually in competitively -awarded federal research funding—which would be roughly a 30 percent increase.

The third major goal is recruiting the university's future—the brightest young faculty, the most promising professional staff, the best undergraduate and graduate students.

Meeting challenging goals is a Curris trademark. At Murray State, he oversaw extensive campus renovations and improvements, including a student center which was later named for him. At UNI, he led the school in raising admissions standards and implementing a more rigorous comprehensive general education program. UNI gained national recongition in many programs during the period and was cited in 1993 as one of the best educational values among public universities by U.S. News & World Report.

Curris received a bachelor's degree, magna cum laude, in political science from the University of Kentucky, a master's in political science and public administration from the University of Illinois, and his doctorate in higher educaton from the University of Kentucky.

When his schedule permits, Curris enjoys gardening, fishing and reading. He is married to Jo Hern Curris, a tax attorney and author.

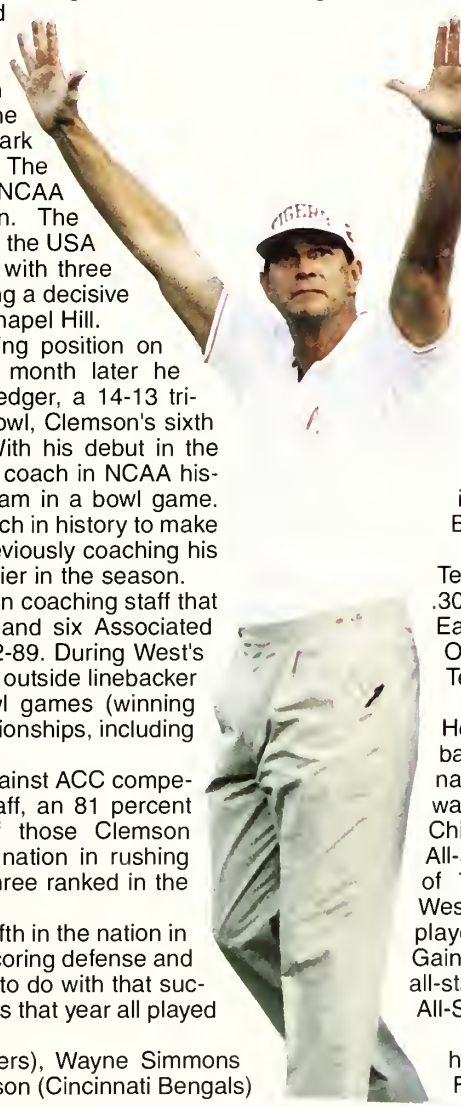
Tommy West

Tommy West entered his second year at the helm of the Clemson program with success on his mind, and that is what he achieved. He guided the 1995 Tigers to an 8-4 record, its best ACC ranking in four years, and a selection to a January 1 Bowl game.

For the second straight year, the Tigers showed marked improvement as the season progressed and the young team won its last five games of the regular season, four by at least 17 points. The run of success at the end of the season had the Tigers in the top 25 of every poll. West's Tigers were picked fifth in the ACC preseason poll, but, thanks to the third best offense in Clemson history and a defense that ranked 10th in the nation in scoring, Clemson finished third in the ACC standings with a 6-2 record, its best league finish since the Tigers won the ACC title in 1991.

The 1995 campaign was one in which Clemson excelled in every area. The Tigers ranked fourth in the country in rushing, yet also led the ACC in yards per pass attempt. Defensively, Clemson rated in the top 20 in the nation in rushing defense, passing efficiency defense and turnover margin. In terms of special teams, Clemson was the only school in the nation to have an individual ranked in the top 25 in punting, placekicking, punt returns and kickoff returns.

In his first full season, West guided the Tigers to a 5-6 record, and it was a season that showed week-by-week improvement. The '94 club, which featured the youngest Clemson offensive unit in 50 years, finished with a number-one ranking in turnover margin, a landmark ranking in Clemson football history. The team lost just two fumbles, fewest in NCAA history over the course of a season. The Tigers were ranked as high as 21st in the USA Today poll, and finished the season with three wins in their last four outings, including a decisive conquest of #12 North Carolina in Chapel Hill.



West took over the head coaching position on November 29, 1993. Less than a month later he already had a bowl victory on his ledger, a 14-13 triumph over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl, Clemson's sixth bowl win in an eight year period. With his debut in the Peach Bowl, West became the sixth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

West was a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89. During West's first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top 12 in the nation in total defense.

Clemson's 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West's outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year all played in the NFL in 1995.

Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers), Wayne Simmons (Green Bay Packers) and John Johnson (Cincinnati Bengals) were starters in 1994 in the NFL, and Ashley Sheppard (Minnesota Vikings) was a top reserve. Simmons was a first-round draft pick, Kirkland and Johnson second-round selections and Sheppard was a fourth-round choice. In addition to the four players listed above, Andy Headen (New York Giants) and Terence Mack (St. Louis Cardinals) are former Tigers West helped guide to an NFL career.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the 1980 and 1981 seasons he served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State.

After his career at Clemson (1982-89), West became the running backs coach at Tennessee. During that 1990 season Tennessee won the Southeastern Conference and captured the Sugar Bowl with a win over Virginia. The Volunteers scored a school record 442 points that year and averaged over 410 yards a game in total offense, 205.7 rushing and 205.4 passing. He served as Co-Defensive Coordinator at South Carolina in 1991 and 1992.

In 1993 West took over a UT-Chattanooga team that had won just two games in 1992. He doubled that total in 1993 and guided the Mocs to one of the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman. Ironically, his first regular season game as Clemson coach was a victory over Furman.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in a final Top 20 in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee's 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yard pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor's degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year.

West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division. Rick Honeycutt, now with the Oakland A's, was West's teammate on that 1975 Tennessee team that finished 32-16.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielder in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a third-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an All-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the regular phase of the June 1972 draft. He played his prep football at Gainesville High in Gainesville, GA for Coach Bobby Gruhn. He was an all-state back as a junior and was also named to the All-Southern team.

Born Thomas Cleveland West on July 31, 1954, he is married to the former Lindsay Watkins of Forest City, NC. The couple has one son, Turner, 7.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Les Herrin

Les Herrin

Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Line

The Clemson football program has seen a lot success during Les Herrin's tenure as an assistant coach. In 1981, Herrin arrived at Clemson as a linebacker coach, and the Tigers won the National Championship that season. In his first tour of duty with the Tigers (1981-84) Clemson had a 37-6-2 record during that span. Herrin is the dean of Clemson coaches and is now in his 12th season in Tigertown.

After a brief stint away from Clemson at East Carolina (1985-87) and North Carolina (1988), Herrin returned to the Tiger program in 1989 as defensive line coach. In 1989 Clemson ranked fifth in the nation in scoring, rushing, and total defense. The team followed that perfromance with a number-one ranking in total defense in 1990, as well as second in scoring and rushing defense.

Herrin has coached several players who have had successful NFL careers. Herrin coached 1981 ACC MVP Jeff Davis, who went on to be captain of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and entered the Clemson Ring of Honor last year. He also tutored 1995 All-Pro Johnny Rembert (New England Patriots), who was a linebacker under Herrin's watchful eye in 1981 and 1982. Chester McGlockton, a Pro Bowl defensive lineman with the Los Angeles Raiders the past two seasons, and Pittsburgh Steelers Super Bowl starter Brentson Buckner, also benefitted from Herrin's teaching.

Darrell Moody

Darrell Moody

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

Darrell Moody is in his rookie season at Clemson, but he is no rookie when it comes to the ACC. The N.C. State grad arrived in Tigertown from North Carolina, ironically, his first opponent as a Clemson coach.

Moody handled the offensive chores for the Tar Heels between 1988-95, and he helped them to bowls in each of his last four seasons. His '95 offense joined Florida State's as the only ACC school to average over 240 yards passing and 150 yards rushing per game. He has also coached greats in Ted Brown and Billy Ray Vickers at N.C. State, Dalton Hilliard and Garry James at LSU, and Natone Means and Leon Johnson at North Carolina.

Moody has been coaching at the Division I level for the last 23 years and hopes to translate that experience into a successful offense at Clemson. He has coached in the biggest bowl games, including the Orange Bowl as an assistant at LSU in 1983. He has coached in 10 bowl games overall.

The 1970 N.C. State graduate was an outstanding athlete for the Wolfpack. He was a three-year letterman at N.C. State (1968-70) and led the team in passing in 1969. He was a member of N.C. State's 1968 ACC Championship football team and a starter on the Pack's 1968 College World Series baseball team, the only CWS team in N.C. State history.

At the conclusion of his athletic career he went into coaching and was an a assistant coach under Lou Holtz at N.C. State by the time he was 25.

Ellis Johnson

Ellis Johnson

Defensive Coordinator/Outside Linebackers

Ellis Johnson is in his first season as the sole defensive coordinator of the Tigers, his second season as outside linebacker coach, but his third year on the Clemson staff. As defensive line coach and co-defensive coordinator last year, he was a significant reason Clemson ranked in the top 10 in the nation in scoring defense and the top 20 in rushing defense.

Johnson is in just his third year at Clemson, but is no stranger to the area. He attended The Citadel, but he grew up a Clemson fan. He has coached in the state at The Citadel as a graduate assistant, at Gaffney High as an assistant coach and at Spartanburg High as an assistant coach and head coach. His most successful stint in coaching so far took place in Alabama. The Crimson Tide experienced a perfect season and defeated Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl to win the National Championship in 1992. He is one of two Tiger assistant coaches on this year's staff with a National Championship ring. Les Herrin, a member of Clemson's 1981 staff, is the other.

Johnson was a part of four outstanding defenses at Alabama. During his tenure (1990-93), Alabama ranked in the top five in the nation in total defense and pass defense three times. The 1992 Alabama defense led the nation in total defense and rushing defense and ranked second nationally in passing defense and scoring defense.

Johnson married the former Tonya Taylor in August of 1994.

Richard Bisaccia

Richard Bisaccia

Running Backs/Special Teams/Recruiting Coordinator

Richard Bisaccia enters the 1996 season after coaching the ACC leading rusher in Raymond Priester. He helped to develop Priester into the single-season ground gainer in Clemson history. He also has had a positive effect on fullback Emory Smith, who gained 712 yards last year and combined with Priester to set a Clemson single season rushing record for a starting backfield.

Bisaccia, a Yonkers, NY native, learned how to hold onto the football as a four-year starter and team captain at Yankton College. He has been successful in teaching that aspect of the game, as Clemson had just two lost fumbles in 1994, his first year, tying the all-time NCAA Division I record for fewest lost fumbles in a season. He was a free agent with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL after his college career.

The Richard Bisaccia File

At Clemson: In his third season as the Tigers' running backs coach and special teams coach.

Previous Coaching Expereince: College - Offensive coordinator at Wayne State (NE) (1983-87); graduate assistant for wide receivers at South Carolina (1988); volunteer assistant for defensive ends at South Carolina (1989-90); tight ends coach at South Carolina (1991); running backs and special teams coach at South Carolina (1992-93); running backs and special teams coach at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: New Fairfield High School in New Fairfield, CT; Earned a degree in health and physical education from Yankton College (1983).

Personal Data: Born June 3, 1960...he and his wife Jeanne have four children: daughters, Michele (12), Elizabeth (7), and Madeline (3) and son Richard Oakley (2).

While the 1983 Spring season saw the end of his playing career, the 1983 fall was the beginning of his coaching career. He was named the offensive coordinator at Wayne State in Nebraska his first year out of college and he has been in college coaching ever since.

Unlike many Division I full-time assistant coaches, Bisaccia has not made a lot of moves. He spent five seasons at Wayne State, then six seasons at South Carolina. He has experience coaching on defense and offense, but will concentrate on the running backs position at Clemson.

Bisaccia probably wears more hats than any other Clemson coach. In addition to his time with the running backs, he is also the special teams coach and the recruiting coordinator.

In addition to Bisaccia's recent changes on the gridiron, he has had a family addition within the last two years. In August of '94 his wife Jeanne gave birth to their first son and fourth child, Richard Oakley.

Charlie Harbison

Charlie Harbison

Defensive Backs

Second-year Clemson coach Charlie Harbison has more experience at the professional level than any other current Tiger mentor. Harbison was a starter at strong safety with the New Orleans and Boston Breakers of the USFL in 1983-84 and also signed a free agent contract with the Buffalo Bills in 1982, 1985 and 1986.

Harbison also coached on the pro level with the Raleigh-Durham Skyhawks of the World League of American Football, with the Charlotte Barons of the MLFS and with the Charlotte Rage of the AFL. He has coached wide receivers, linebackers, and defensive backs in his career, but has by far his most experience as a secondary coach.

He enters the '96 campaign after a successful season a year ago. His secondary, led by NFL draftees Brian Dawkins and Leomont Evans, ranked in the top 20 in the nation. The 22 interceptions was the eighth best total by a Clemson team (per game) in history and the best mark since the national championship season. In 1994 he coached the secondary at UTEP. This season, his second at Clemson, he will have the opportunity to enhance the careers of a veteran secondary led by Dexter McCleon, Andre Carter and the Ford twins, Peter and Andy.

In addition to his Division I experience, Harbison also has had significant success at the NAIA level. His Gardner Webb team of 1992 had a 12-2 record and played in the NAIA Championship game.

Reggie Herring

Reggie Herring

Inside Linebackers

Reggie Herring is another example of an outstanding former player who has gone on to become an outstanding coach. A teammate of Rick Stockstill at Florida State, Herring left his own mark with the Seminole program as a player.

Herring was captain of the 1980 Orange Bowl team and earned AP All-America honors in 1980. The Seminoles played in the Orange Bowl and ranked in the top 10 in the nation his junior and senior seasons, and he was recently inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame. He was a three-year starter at Florida State and the Seminoles played in three bowls during his four-year career. Florida State also had three double-figure victory seasons during his career.

The Reggie Herring File

At Clemson: In his third season as inside linebackers coach.

College Playing Experience: Three-year starter at linebacker for Florida State.

Personal Data: Born on July 3, 1959...married the former Lisa Ward, and they have two children, Caroline and Adam.

Like many of Clemson's assistant coaches in 1996, Herring has a diverse experience history. He has been a part of successful programs at Oklahoma State, Auburn, TCU and now Clemson. He was defensive coordinator at TCU prior to coming to Clemson.

Herring has not made plans over the Christmas holidays for quite some time. He has been a part of college football as a player and coach since 1977. In those 19 seasons he has been to 14 bowl games, 11 as a coach and three as a player.

In his first year at Clemson he coached UPI National Freshman of the Year Anthony Simmons who was also a third-team AP All-American. Herring also coached first-team Academic All-American Andye McCrorey.

John Latina

John Latina

Centers and Guards

John Latina has been an offensive coach for a Division I program every year since 1979. He is in his second season coaching the centers and guards at Clemson, a drastic change from coaching the entire offensive line in 1994. This change has allowed him to spend more time with fewer players.

Latina showed his expertise as a teacher last year as he helped Clemson to the fourth best rushing attack in the nation. This year he hopes to build on the '95 season, but will only have one of his three starters returning this year. But if '94 was any indication of how he brings along a young offensive line, the '96 team will be at its best.

The Virginia Tech graduate, who once played against Clemson as an offensive guard (1978), has worked at Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Temple and Kansas State. He has already coached in a bowl game with four different schools.

During his career he has worked with Dan Marino, who led the Panthers to a 9-3 ledger and the Cotton Bowl in 1982. Paul Palmer, one of the top rushers in NCAA history with Temple, was also a member of Latina's offense in the 1980s.

Over the five years he was with the program, Kansas State's team in general and offense in particular, showed as much improvement as any in the country. In Latina's second season at Kansas State as offensive line coach and running game coordinator, the Wildcats set a school record for total offense with 4,231 yards. Kansas State advanced to a bowl game in 1992, just the second bowl appearance in school history.

The John Latina File

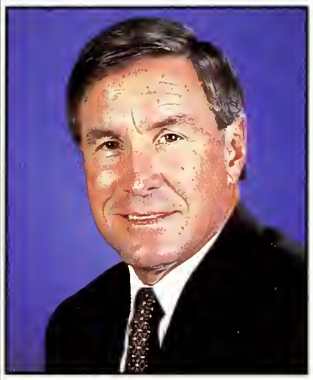
At Clemson: In his second season as guards and centers coach, his third season at Clemson.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Assistant coach at Virginia Tech (1979-81); assistant coach at Pittsburgh (1982); offensive line coach at Temple (1983-88); running game coordinator at Kansas State (1989-93); offensive line coach at Clemson (Dec. 1993-1994); offensive guards and centers (1995-present).

Education: Received a bachelor's degree from Virginia Tech (1979).

College Playing Experience: Four-year letter winner at Virginia Tech as an offensive guard (1975-78).

Personal Data: Born September 18, 1957...he and his wife Michele have two sons John Jr. (12) and Michael (9).



Mac McWhorter

Mac McWhorter

Offensive Tackles/Tight Ends

Mac McWhorter is in his rookie season at Clemson. He arrives from Georgia, where he spent the last five years as an offensive line coach. The Georgia native is coming off a successful stint in Athens, where he worked with All-American Eric Zeier from 1991-94, and a "tough-nose" running game in '95. He helped Georgia to set numerous team records in many different categories in the last five years. The Dogs led the SEC in rushing and passing during his career with the Bulldogs.

Coach McWhorter played football at Georgia in the early '70s as an offensive lineman; so he is no stranger to the surroundings of Death Valley. He has played and coached in many big bowl games, including the Gator, Peach, Hall of Fame, Citrus, and Sun Bowls.

McWhorter was an AP All-Southeastern Conference selection as a guard in 1973. He was also an honorable mention All-American and was named captain of the Bulldogs. Georgia played in two bowl games during his career.

McWhorter has been a college coach each of the last 16 years and 12 of those years he worked with either Georgia or Georgia Tech. He also coached two years at ACC rival Duke (1990-91). Altogether, McWhorter has coached in six bowl games.

The Mac McWhorter File

At Clemson: In his first year as offensive tackles and tight ends coach.

Previous Coaching Experience: High School - offensive line at Duluth High School (1974-75); offensive coach/offensive line at Douglas County Comprehensive High School (1975-76); offensive coordinator at Douglas County Comprehensive High School (1976-79); Head Coach at Villa Rica High School (1979-80). College - assistant coach/offensive line at Georgia Tech (1980-87); assistant head coach/offensive line at Alabama (1987-88); assistant coach/offensive line at Alabama (1988); Head Coach at West Georgia College (1988-90); assistant coach/offensive line at Duke (1990-91); assistant coach/offensive line and tight ends at Georgia (1991-95); offensive tackles/tight ends at Clemson (1996-present).

College Playing Experience: Earned four letters at Georgia as an offensive lineman.

Personal Data: Born June 17, 1950...he and his wife, Rebecca have two daughters: Kasay and Katie; and a son: Hamilton.

Rick Stockstill

Rick Stockstill

Wide Receivers

Rick Stockstill has been around successful programs and record setting offenses his entire coaching career. In his first year as quarterback coach at Clemson (1989), the Tigers set a school record for completion percentage (60%). The Tigers led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense for the 1991 season, and Clemson gained the second most yards in school history in the process.

Last year Clemson had its third most productive offense in history scoring over 300 points and gaining over 4500 yards of total offense.

Stockstill also tutored productive offenses at Central Florida and Bethune-Cookman in his early years as a football coach. As a player, he was the starting quarterback for Florida State. He guided the Seminoles to a pair of Orange Bowl appearances, a pair of top 10 rankings, and was the team captain in 1981.

It is no surprise that Stockstill has moved up the coaching ladder so swiftly because he is the product of an athletic family. His father was head coach at Fernandina Beach High School in Florida for many years. His brother, Jeff, was a starting wide receiver for the Tigers in 1982, and a reserve on the National Championship team of 1981.

Stockstill is in his eighth year with the Clemson program and the Tigers have been to bowl games in five of the previous seven seasons at Clemson. He joins Les Herrin and Whitey Jordan as the only assistant coaches in Clemson history to serve under three different head coaches.

The Rick Stockstill File

Ring of Honor

The Clemson Ring of Honor is in its third year of existence in Clemson Memorial Stadium. On September 3, 1994, during ceremonies prior to the Clemson vs. Furman football game, Frank Howard, Steve Fuller and Banks McFadden were inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor. On September 2, 1995, Jeff Davis was added to the Clemson Ring of Honor.

The Ring of Honor is the highest honor a Clemson football player can receive. A recipient must first be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame, earn at least an undergraduate degree, and make a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson athletics. Honorees will have their jersey retired.

Howard was Clemson's head coach between 1940-69 and he guided Clemson to eight conference championships, six bowl games and six Top 25 seasons. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989 and is the second winningest coach in ACC history. He had 165 wins when he retired.

McFadden was named the Nation's most versatile athlete in 1939. He was an All-American in football and basketball, the only Clemson athlete in history to do that. McFadden led Clemson to its first bowl bid ever, a 6-3 win over Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. He was the number-three pick of the 1940 NFL draft, the highest draft selection in Clemson history.

Fuller is the only football player in Clemson history to be chosen an All-American on the field and in the classroom. Fuller was a first-team Academic All-American in 1977 and 1978 and was a third-team AP All-American in 1978. Fuller, who was ACC MVP on two occasions, is still Clemson's all-time leader in total offense. He was an NCAA Top Five Award winner in 1979, the only Clemson athlete to win the award.

Davis, captain of Clemson's 1981 National Championship team was a first-team All-American that year when he led the Tigers in tackles with 175, the highest total in Clemson history. Davis was also named the MVP of the ACC and was the Defensive MVP of the Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska, the game that clinched the national championship for the Tigers.

RING OF HONOR GUIDELINES

Purpose: The charge of the Ring of Honor committee is to bestow the highest athletic award presented by the Clemson Athletic Department on deserving candidates. The committee will examine the careers of candidates in all Clemson sports.

Nominations: Nominations are made by any member of IPTAY, a member of the faculty or a relative of a worthy nominee, and are accepted up to 30 days prior to the committee meeting. The committee will meet once every two years in the month of April to vote on the nominations.

Nominations will be made in the form of a letter with a complete list of accomplishments and submitted to the chair of the committee, currently Clemson Sports Information Director Tim Bourret, who will retain an active file of nominations. Letters of support may also be submitted. All nominations will remain on file for a period of three voting committee meetings (five years). The Chair of the Committee will screen all nominations to make sure they meet eligibility requirements.

Eligibility: This committee will recognize individuals who have demonstrated consistent and unique national excellence in their sport during their Clemson career. Their accomplishments must be significant on an individual and team basis. Their statistical accomplishments must be noteworthy, but they should also have an outstanding record in terms of leadership. In general, they must have made a noteworthy contribution to the history of the Clemson Athletic Program.

Athletic accomplishments after their Clemson career are not a primary consideration in the nomination, but they must retain an unblemished record of citizenship after they leave Clemson.

A candidate must be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame and must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited four-year University or college.

Financial contributions to Clemson University will not be a consideration when evaluating the candidates.

For a coach to be nominated he or she must be retired from coaching that sport at the college level.

Selection Process: Each member of the 11-person selection committee will cast one vote per sport. An honoree must obtain at least seven votes to be selected. There will be just one ballot. The committee does not have to select any honorees at its meeting. There shall be no more than one honoree in a sport for every two years.

Conferring: In the sport of football, the honoree will have his name, number, years participated and helmet enshrined in the Ring of Honor at Clemson Memorial Stadium. In the sport of basketball, the honoree's jersey will be hung from the rafters of Littlejohn Coliseum. In the sport of baseball a jersey replica will be hung from the fence of Tiger Field. Other sports will establish appropriate sites at the home facility.

When a student-athlete is selected the person's jersey is honored, but the jersey number may be worn in the future. However, it is encouraged that the number be issued only on special occasions. These occasions are determined by the head coach and athletic director. The ceremony honoring the recipient will be determined from a meeting between the honoree, the athletic director, the committee chair and the head coach of the sport involved.

ACC Football

*Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 56 NCAA and AIAW championships, including 27 in men's competition and 29 in women's. In addition, 96 men and 24 women have earned the coveted title of the NCAA champion.

*The ACC is one of only two conferences to capture three or more national football titles since 1980. Clemson laid claim to the league's second title in 1981, Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990 while Florida State pocketed national title number four in 1994.

*The nine schools that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 310 first or second team gridiron All-Americans and 48 first-team academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,336 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 82 first-round draft selections.

*If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. After posting a 3-1 bowl mark in 1995, the ACC moved past the Pacific-10 as the conference with the best all-time bowl winning percentage. The league's teams are a combined 76-63-5 (.545) in post-season play.

*Three ACC teams, Clemson, Florida State and Georgia Tech, are among the nation's top 10 winningest bowl teams. The Seminoles are 15-8-2 in bowl play, while the Yellow Jackets are 17-8 and that .680 winning percentage is tied for best in NCAA history. Clemson is eighth at 12-8 (.600).

Priester led the ACC in rushing in 1995, the first Tiger to win that statistical crown since 1987. He is one of many outstanding ACC running backs in 1996.

*Ten times over the past 16 years, an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award which is awarded to a CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team. The ACC Academic Honor Roll record was broken for the 10th-straight year as 1,185 student-athletes were recognized for their work in the classroom.

*The 1995-96 academic year concluded with the league pocketing two more national team titles and seven individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 23 national team titles the last six years.

*In addition, seven ACC schools - North Carolina (6), Virgina (21), Florida State (23), Clemson (27), N.C. State (32), Maryland (34) and Duke (39) were ranked in the Top 40 of the Sears Directors' Cup, an all-sports award honoring the Division I school with the best performance by women's and men's athletic teams during the 1995-96 academic year.

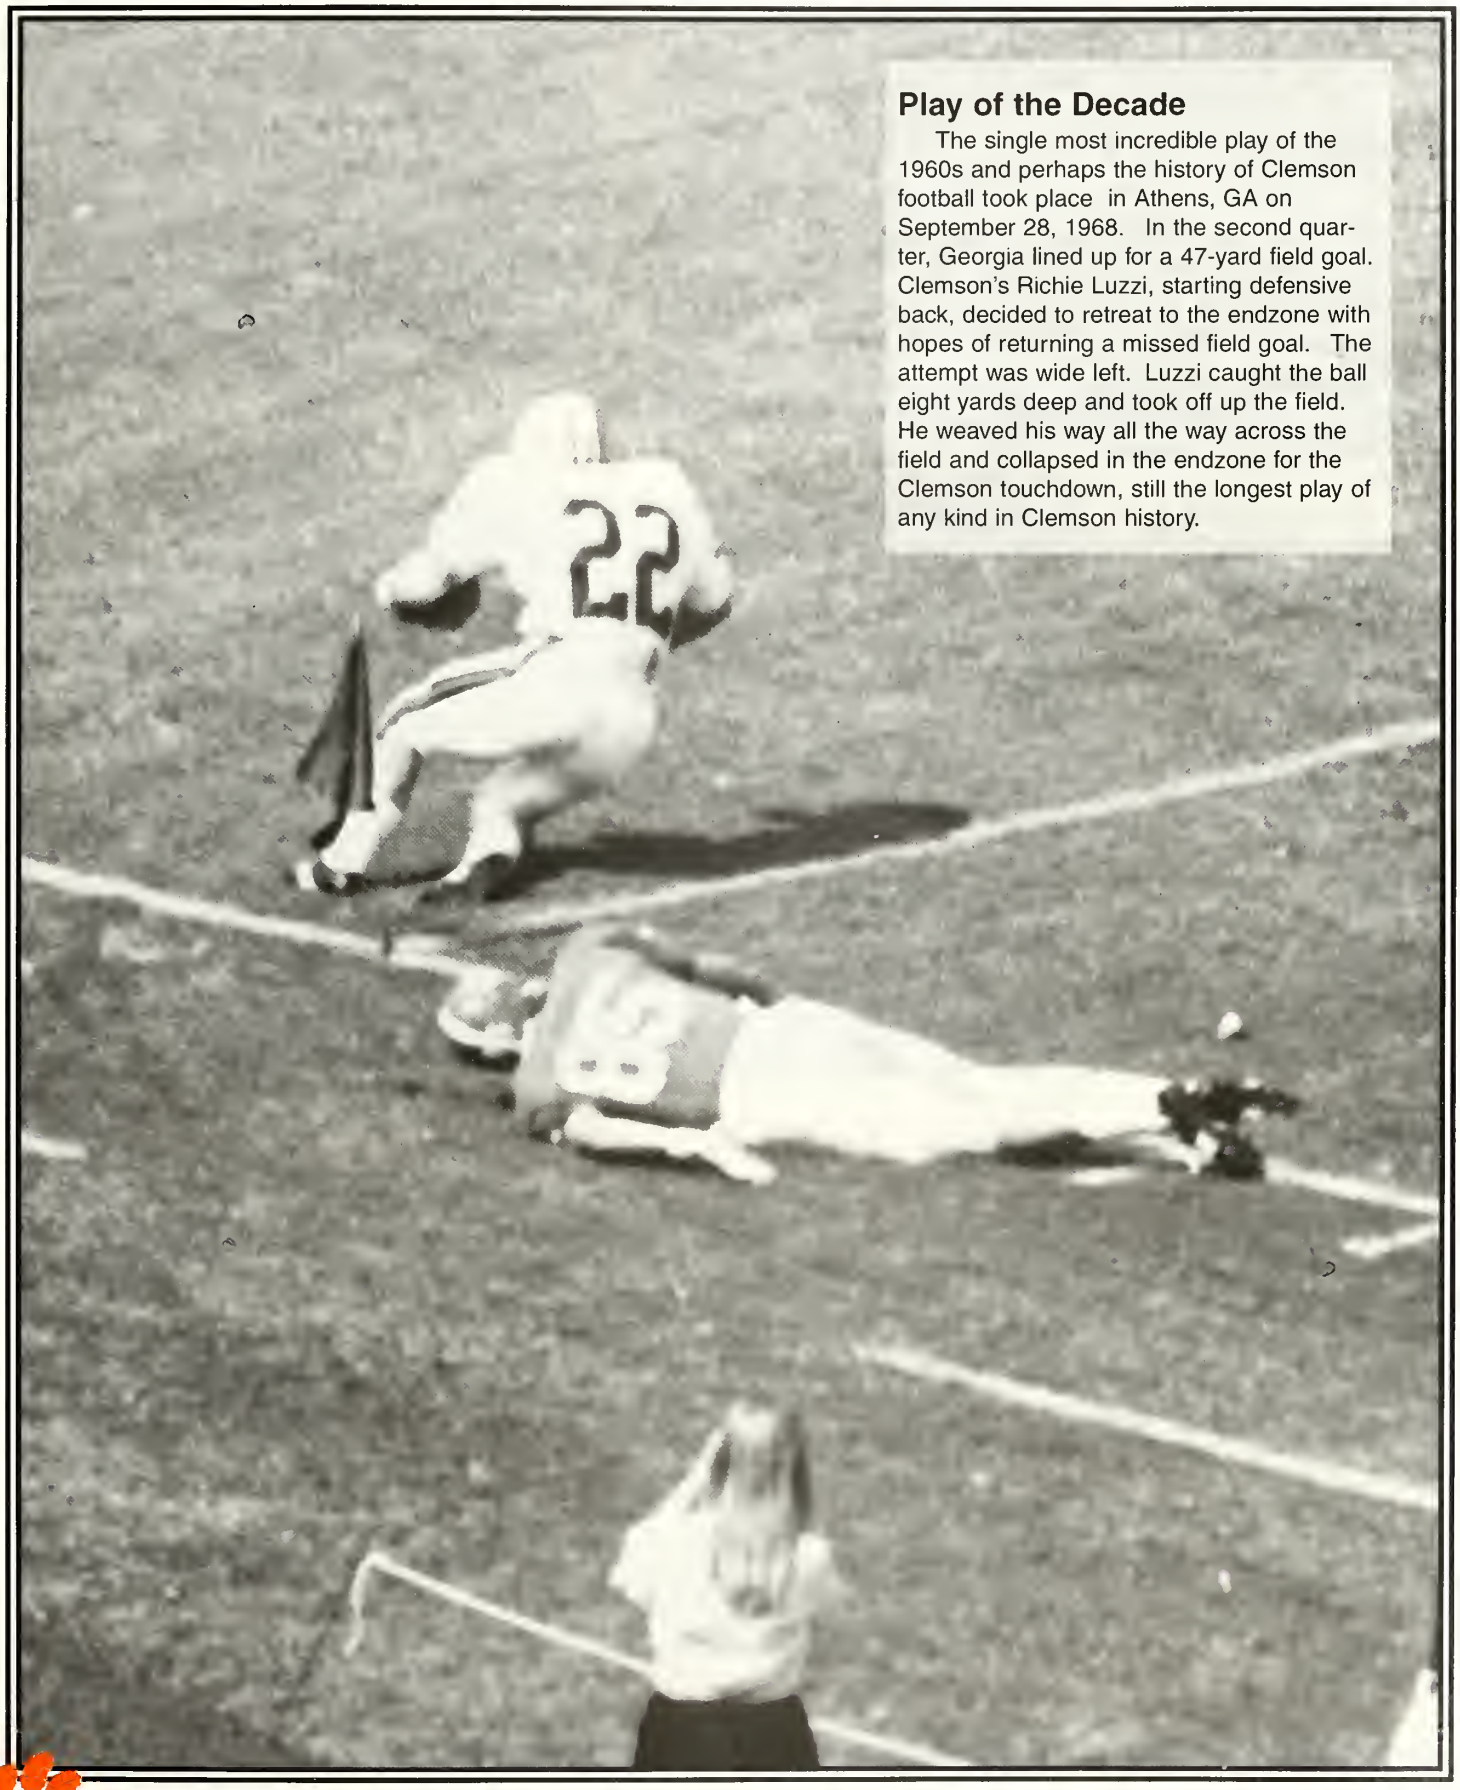
*The ACC placed at least one team in the Top 10 nationally in 13 of the 23 sports sponsored by the league. Other records of note during the 1995-96 season include 83 teams competing at the NCAA Championships, four bowl teams and 20 Top 10 showings.

*Six ACC teams, in six different sports, representing three of the nine member institutions, earned a No. 1 ranking during the course of the past academic year.

*The ACC set a single season attendance mark in 1995 averaging an all-time high 46,588 fans per game. The conference drew more than 2.2 million fans for a fifth straight year. Over 51 home dates, ACC schools attracted 2,376,003, the third highest total in league history and a five percent increase over 1994. ACC teams played to 89 percent of their stadiums' capacity.

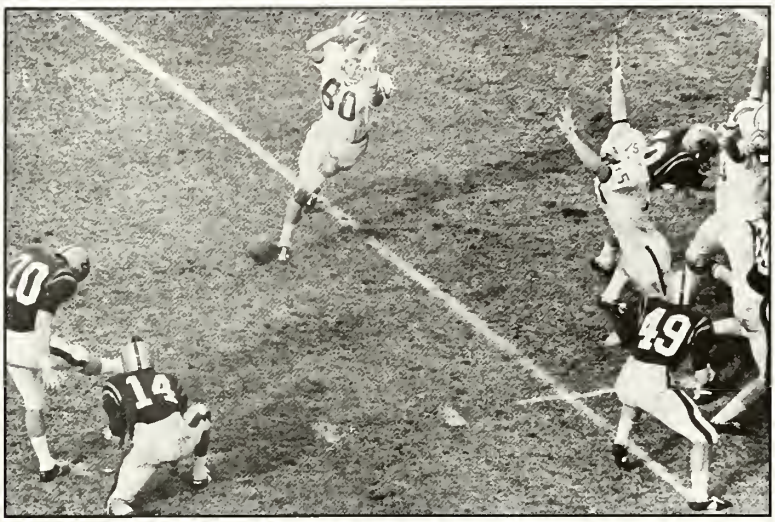
*For the second year in a row, five ACC players were among 24 players selected to the Hitachi/CFA Scholar Athlete team. Florida State's Todd Rebol, Clemson's Andye McCrorey, N.C. State's Jonathan Risser, North Carolina's Russell Babb and Wake Forest's Rusty LaRue were selected.

*ACC football teams made 24 appearances on television during the 1995 season. League teams made 11 appearances on ABC, nine on ESPN, and one each on CBS, NBC, TBS, and Prime.



Play of the Decade

The single most incredible play of the 1960s and perhaps the history of Clemson football took place in Athens, GA on September 28, 1968. In the second quarter, Georgia lined up for a 47-yard field goal. Clemson's Richie Luzzi, starting defensive back, decided to retreat to the endzone with hopes of returning a missed field goal. The attempt was wide left. Luzzi caught the ball eight yards deep and took off up the field. He weaved his way all the way across the field and collapsed in the endzone for the Clemson touchdown, still the longest play of any kind in Clemson history.



Thrilling win over the Gamecocks

Clemson took a 20-17 lead over its archrival on a 24-yard field goal by Rodney Rogers with 1:24 left. South Carolina then drove to the Clemson 20. On the last play of the game, South Carolina quarterback Dan Reeves (Now coach of the New York Giants) faded to pass, but was sacked for a game-ending 13-yard loss by Tracy Childers (60) , Billy Weaver (69), Johnny Boyette (73) and Don Chuy (74). It was the fourth straight win to end the season for Frank Howard's 1962 Tigers.

Tiger Timeline

by Sam Blackman

September 24, 1960—Spurred on by a resounding 28-7 victory over Wake Forest in the season opener, Clemson moved up to number-seven in the AP poll, the highest ranking for the Clemson football program in the decade of the 1960s. Clemson and Wake Forest were tied at 7-7 heading into the fourth period. But, Clemson's defense was outstanding and had more interception return yards than Wake Forest quarterback Norm Snead had passing.

September 26, 1960—Clemson moved up to number-seven in the nation in the AP poll after the victory over Wake Forest. The Wake Forest contest had been tagged as an ACC Championship game in the first game of the season. Clemson trailed only Mississippi, Syracuse, Washington, Illinois, Kansas and Northwestern in the poll. Clemson was the only ACC team in the top 20.

October 8, 1960—Clemson defeated Virginia 21-7 and used special pants for rain protection in this game. Clemson improved its record to 3-0 with the victory. After the contest Clemson sent the pants to Greenville and allowed Furman to use the pants for a game that night against William and Mary. Furman Head Coach Bob King said, "after those big Clemson boys got out of them some of our guys had a hard time making them stay up and we had to tape the legs of the pants for several players." The pants beat two teams from Virginia on the same day.

October 15, 1960—Clemson, ranked eighth in the nation entering the game, suffered a heart-breaking 17-15 loss to Maryland. It was the first of three straight losses for the Tigers, two of which were by two points.

October 22, 1960—Clemson suffered a 21-6 loss at Duke. Duke had a great rushing attack that day. When the media asked Clemson Coach Frank Howard when the turning point of the game was, he replied, "three years ago when I didn't recruit any tailbacks."

November 12, 1960—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 12-2, in the first ever appearance for South Carolina at Clemson. The Tigers led 3-2 at halftime. A crowd of 45,000 watched the contest, biggest in Clemson history at the time. There was a great buildup for this game, but like a lot of Super Bowls, this game did not live up to its billing.

October 7, 1961—Clemson earned a quality victory with a 27-0 victory at North Carolina. The Tar Heels were ranked in the top 25 entering the game.

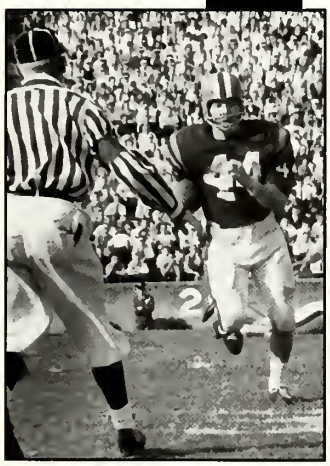
November 11, 1961—A team resembling Clemson entered the field prior to the meeting with South Carolina. They did a few serious calisthenics and then started dancing to band music. The

Special Teams Excellence

Clemson's teams in the early 1960s featured outstanding special teams. Kickers Bill McGuirt, Lon Armstrong, Eddie Werntz, Rodney Rogers and Frank Pearce all ranked in the top 20 in the nation in kicking at one time or another between 1960-63. Hal Davis was an outstanding return man. His 98-yard kickoff return against Georgia in 1962 was the only kickoff return for a score by a Tiger between 1960-87.

Eddie Werntz

Banks McFadden was named the punter on the Clemson Centennial One-Platoon team. But, the runnerup in the voting was Eddie Werntz, a walk-on who led Clemson in punting three straight years. Werntz ranked ninth in the country in punting in 1961 and was 11th in 1962, his senior year, the first Clemson punter to rank in the top 15 in the nation in a special teams category in consecutive seasons.



Hal Davis

Lon Armstrong

Armstrong ranked in the top 20 in the nation in kick scoring in 1960 and 1961, joining Werntz as the top kicking combination at Clemson in the decade of the 1960s. Armstrong ranked 10th in kick scoring in 1960 and 20th in 1961.

November 24, 1962—Clemson defeated South Carolina seven days later as Rogers kicked a 24-yard field goal with 1:31 left. It was the third time in 1962 that Clemson won a game in the final five minutes. The Clemson Tigers wore blue jerseys in this game, the ones that were used in the 1959 Sugar Bowl game. Clemson claimed the 20-17 victory when South Carolina quarterback Dan Reeves was sacked deep in Clemson territory on the last play of the game.

October 12, 1963—Clemson and Georgia tied 7-7, but the main item of interest was the strange weather. A hail storm hit at 2:50 p.m. and caused temperatures to plummet from 84 degrees to 57 degrees in 45 minutes. Almost an inch of hail poured in a 20-minute period and the game was delayed. Clemson blocked two field goal attempts to preserve the tie.

October 19, 1963—Clemson dropped a wild 35-30 game against Duke. The Tigers passed for a school record 364 yards in the contest, but lost the game. Jim Parker led Clemson's passers in the game with 246 yards on 11-23 passing.

November 23, 1963—The South Carolina-Clemson game was postponed due to the death of President Kennedy.

November 28, 1963—Clemson defeated South

Record setters of 1965

Three records that still stand today were established during Clemson's 1965 ACC Championship season. Two came in one game. Thomas Ray threw for 323 yards against North Carolina in 1965, the only 300-yard passing game in Clemson history. A record 11 passes that day went to wide receiver Phil Rogers. He gained 129 yards receiving that day. Kit Jackson recorded three interceptions against Wake Forest in 1965, a record that was tied twice in 1995, by Leomont Evans and Brian Dawkins.

September 19, 1964—Clemson had a record 180 yards in penalties, but still shutout Furman, 28-0 in the season opener. The Tigers dominated the game in terms of total offense and time of possession. October 31, 1964—Hal Davis threw a scare into Virginia on this Halloween day with 179 yards rushing in just 13 attempts. Clemson won the contest by a 29-7 score. October 16, 1965—Clemson forced six Duke fumbles, an all-time Clemson defensive record, in a 3-2 victory at Duke. The Blue Devils were ranked in the top 25 in the nation entering the game.

October 23, 1965—Clemson won its second straight game by scoring only a field goal. The Tigers shutout TCU 3-0 at Clemson, meaning Clemson was 2-0 over the last two weeks even though the Tigers scored just six points in the two games combined. Both games were played during the week of the World Series and the game scores were lower than the World Series scores during the week. Hugh Mauldin led the Tigers attack with 143 yards rushing on 31 attempts.

October 30, 1965—Kit Jackson became the first player in Clemson history to record three interceptions in a single game, as he led the Tigers to a 26-13 victory over Wake Forest. Legendary Linemen

Clemson had just two All-Americans in the 1960s, and both were dominant run blockers in the mid 1960s. Harry Olszewski was a first-team consensus All-American guard in 1967 and the only unanimous All-ACC selection. He was named to the Silver Anniversary All-ACC team in 1977. Joining Olszewski on Clemson's Centennial Team, was Wayne Mass, an All-American tackle as a junior in 1966. He was the recipient of the Jacobs Blocking Trophy for the ACC and the state of South Carolina in 1966.

Don Chuy

Chuy was another member of the Clemson Centennial team announced this year who played in the 1960s. Chuy made the squad as a lineman who played in an era when players went both ways. The All-ACC tackle played six years with the Los Angeles Rams and one year with the Eagles after he graduated from Clemson.

November 20, 1965—South Carolina defeated Clemson on the field 17-16. But, the Gamecocks played an ineligible player, thus allowing Clemson to tie for the ACC Championship. Clemson has not changed its won loss record, however, but the ACC does cite Clemson as an ACC Co-Champion as a result of the ruling.

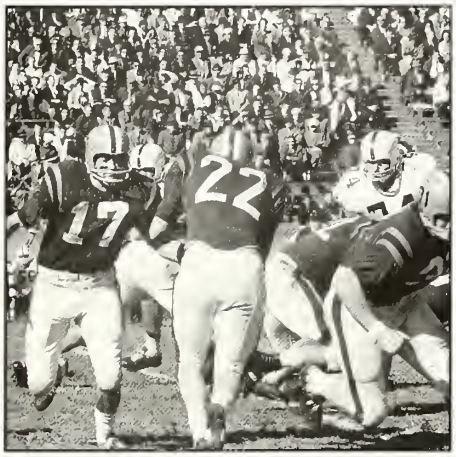
September 24, 1966—First game in which Howard's Rock was present at Death Valley. Clemson downed Virginia, 40-35 in one of the most exciting games in the history of the facility and adding to the legend of Howard's Rock. Clemson trailed 35-17 with just over a quarter remaining in the game, but rode the passing of Jimmy Addison to keep its perfect record alive against Virginia. Addison was 12-19 for 283 yards and three touchdowns, including a 75-yarder to Jackie Jackson with 3:49 remaining that proved to be the game-winner. His passing efficiency in that game is still a Clemson standard. Buddy Gore gave Clemson a balanced attack with 117 rushes on 25 attempts. Bob Davis kept Virginia in this thrilling game with 352 yards of total offense, 312 passing and 40 rushing. The two teams passed for 627 yards between them, 315 by Clemson and 312 by Virginia. It is still the third most passing yards in a game by two teams combined in Clemson history.

October 1, 1966—Clemson dropped a narrow 13-12 decision at ninth-ranked Georgia Tech.

October 15, 1966—Clemson defeated Duke 9-6 thanks to an 80-yard kickoff return by Buddy Gore that set up a Clemson score. It is the second longest non-scoring kickoff return in Clemson history. The game was televised by ABC sports, the first televised game ever from Death Valley. Keith Jackson was the play-by-play announcer that day, his first game behind the mike for ABC for a live college football game.

October 22, 1966—Clemson traveled to Los Angeles to play Southern Cal for the first time. This was the longest trip for a Clemson football team at the time. The Trojans, who won the Pac-Eight that year, won the Rose Bowl and finished in the top 10 in the final poll, defeated Clemson 30-0. It was the third top 10 team Clemson played in non-conference play in 1966, the only team in the nation to play three non-conference games against top 10 teams that year. Clemson visited Universal Studios prior to the game and had their photos taken with many of the television stars of the era.

October 29, 1966—Jimmy Addison connected with Edgar McGee on an 80-yard scoring pass to key Clemson's 23-21 victory at Wake Forest. Addison threw for 207 yards in the game and two scores. It is still the fifth longest touchdown pass in Clemson history. Buddy Gore keyed the rushing attack with 105 yards in 22 attempts. Clemson actually won the game with a defensive play. Wilson Childers and James Tompkins combined to



Jimmy Bell

Quarterbacks with Brain and Braun

Two Clemson quarterbacks in the mid-1960s represented Clemson well on and off the field. Jimmy "The Needle" Addison, won an NCAA Postgraduate scholarship in 1968. On the field, he quarterbacked Clemson to ACC titles in 1966 and 1967 and he became the first quarterback in Clemson history to complete over 55 percent of his passes. Jimmy Bell was named an NCAA Scholar-Athlete in 1964. He achieved a 3.85 career GPA and was president of the Clemson sophomore and junior classes.

Player of the Decade Buddy Gore

The top offensive player in the decade of the 1960s was Aubrey "Buddy" Gore. He was Clemson's first ACC Player of the Year, the first 1,000-yard rusher, and Clemson's first ACC rushing champion. With all the great running backs Clemson has had in the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, he still ranks third in Clemson history in rushing with 2571 yards. He is still the school's all-time workhorse with exactly 600 carries.

November 5, 1966—Clemson had one of its most efficient games of the decade in terms of passing in the 27-3 win over North Carolina. Clemson quarterback Jimmy Addison hit 13-19 passes, still one of the top completion games in Clemson history.

November 12, 1966—Frank Howard won his 150th game and clinched at least a tie for the ACC title with a 14-10 win over Maryland. Clemson won the ACC outright the next week with a 6-1 record. Clemson was 0-3 outside the league in 1966, and all three of the games were against top 10 teams (Georgia Tech, Alabama and Southern Cal). Buddy Gore led the offense with 119 yards in 25 rushes.

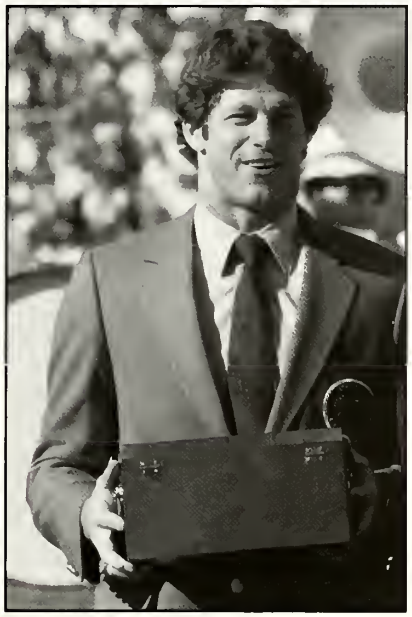
November 26, 1966—Clemson downed South Carolina to win the ACC, 35-10. A key touchdown in the game was scored by Tiger offensive lineman Harry Olszewski, who picked up a mid-air fumble and ran 12 yards for a touchdown. No Clemson offensive lineman has scored since. Jimmy Addison was outstanding as a passer, completing 7-11 for 111 yards and two touchdowns. Buddy Gore keyed the rushing attack with 130 yards in 25 attempts.

September 23, 1967—Clemson started the tradition of rubbing Howard's Rock when running down the hill. Clemson responded with a 23-6 win over Wake Forest. Buddy Gore must have been inspired by the tradition as he raced for 122 yards in 22 carries for Clemson.

September 30, 1967—Georgia defeated the Tigers 24-17 at Death Valley. The Bulldogs were ranked fifth in the nation entering the game. Kent Lawrence, who grew up in Clemson, scored the game winner for Georgia. Clemson scored its 10,000th point in history in this game, a one-yard run by Buddy Gore.

October 28, 1967—Alabama and Bear Bryant came to Clemson to face Frank Howard's Tigers before a sellout crowd at Clemson. Bryant's team won the close game 13-10. Sammy Cain's outstanding punting was a reason Clemson stayed so close in the game. He averaged 48.3 yards a boot on four attempts in the contest. Clemson missed three field goals in the game, including one from 26 yards in the second half that would have tied the game. The loss would be Clemson's only loss over the last six games of the 1967 season. Future Clemson Coach Danny Ford played tight end for the Crimson Tide and caught one pass for nine yards.

November 18, 1967—Clemson painted its shoes orange for the N.C.State game and the Tigers upset the 10th-ranked Wolfpack, 14-6. It was the highest ranked win for Clemson in the decade of the 1960s. Clemson clinched a tie for the ACC championship with the victory, the sixth and final ACC title of Frank Howard's celebrated



Charlie Waters

Charlie Waters was known as a great defensive back in the NFL, but he never played the position for Clemson. In fact, he was a record-setting wide receiver. He still holds the Clemson record for receptions per game over the course of a season. Yes, more than Perry Tuttle, Dwight Clark or Jerry Butler.

Ray Yauger

Ray Yauger followed Gore as the starting tailback and led the Tigers in rushing in 1969 and 1970. He nearly became a 1,000-yard rusher in 1969 (968) and also led the team in scoring with 11 touchdowns, still one of the top seasons in Clemson history.

Jacksons Everywhere

Coach Frank Howard had to be careful when he substituted in the mid 1960s. If he said, "Jackson, get in there," he could have caused quite a stir on the sideline. There were four Jacksons on the 1966 Clemson team, including two players named Jack Jackson. One of the Jacks went by Jacky and the other by Jackie Lee. From left to right in the photo are Danny Jackson, Jacky Jackson, Jackie Lee Jackson, Kit Jackson, and a puzzled Frank Howard.

career. The Tigers had to get the orange paint from eight stores in the area. N.C. State's defense had worn white shoes all season and that was the reason for the ploy.

November 25, 1967—Clemson beat South Carolina 23-12 to claim the ACC Championship, Clemson's third straight ACC title. Buddy Gore broke the ACC single season rushing record with 1,045 yards and finished the season eighth in the nation in rushing. He ran for 189 yards in 31 attempts in the contest that clinched the third straight ACC title for the Tigers. Clemson won its last four games, all conference games, to win the title. The Tigers lost four games in 1967, all to Southern Powers at the time, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Alabama. Gore also had 17 yards receiving in his final game as a Tiger, giving him a career high 206 yards all-purpose running in the contest.

January 30, 1968—Three Clemson players were taken in the first five rounds of the NFL draft, the most top five round picks by Clemson in the decade of the 1960s. Harry Olszewski was the 64th pick of the entire draft, a third-round selection by Cleveland. Wayne Mass, like Olszewski an All-American during his career, was the 99th choice of the draft, a fourth-rounder by Chicago. Mass still lives in the Windy City. Jackie Jackson was the fifth-round pick of the Cleveland Browns.

September 21, 1968—Jim Phillips broadcast his first game as the "Voice of the Tigers." The contest took place at Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem, and Phillips described a 20-20 tie. Phillips would broadcast 306 consecutive regular season games before he missed the North Carolina game this year due to a back ailment.

September 28, 1968—Richie Luzzi returned a missed Georgia field goal try 108 yards (100 officially) for a Clemson touchdown, the longest play in Clemson history and is in fact the longest in NCAA history.

October 19, 1968—Clemson defeated Duke 39-22 in one of the top offensive shows in Clemson history. The two teams combined for 997 yards of total offense. Clemson forced eight turnovers in the game, a record six lost fumbles and two interceptions.

November 2, 1968—Billy Ammons passed for 212 yards on 11-19 in leading Clemson to a 24-19 win at N.C. State. Ray Yauger scored the game winner on a seven-yard run with just 53 seconds left.

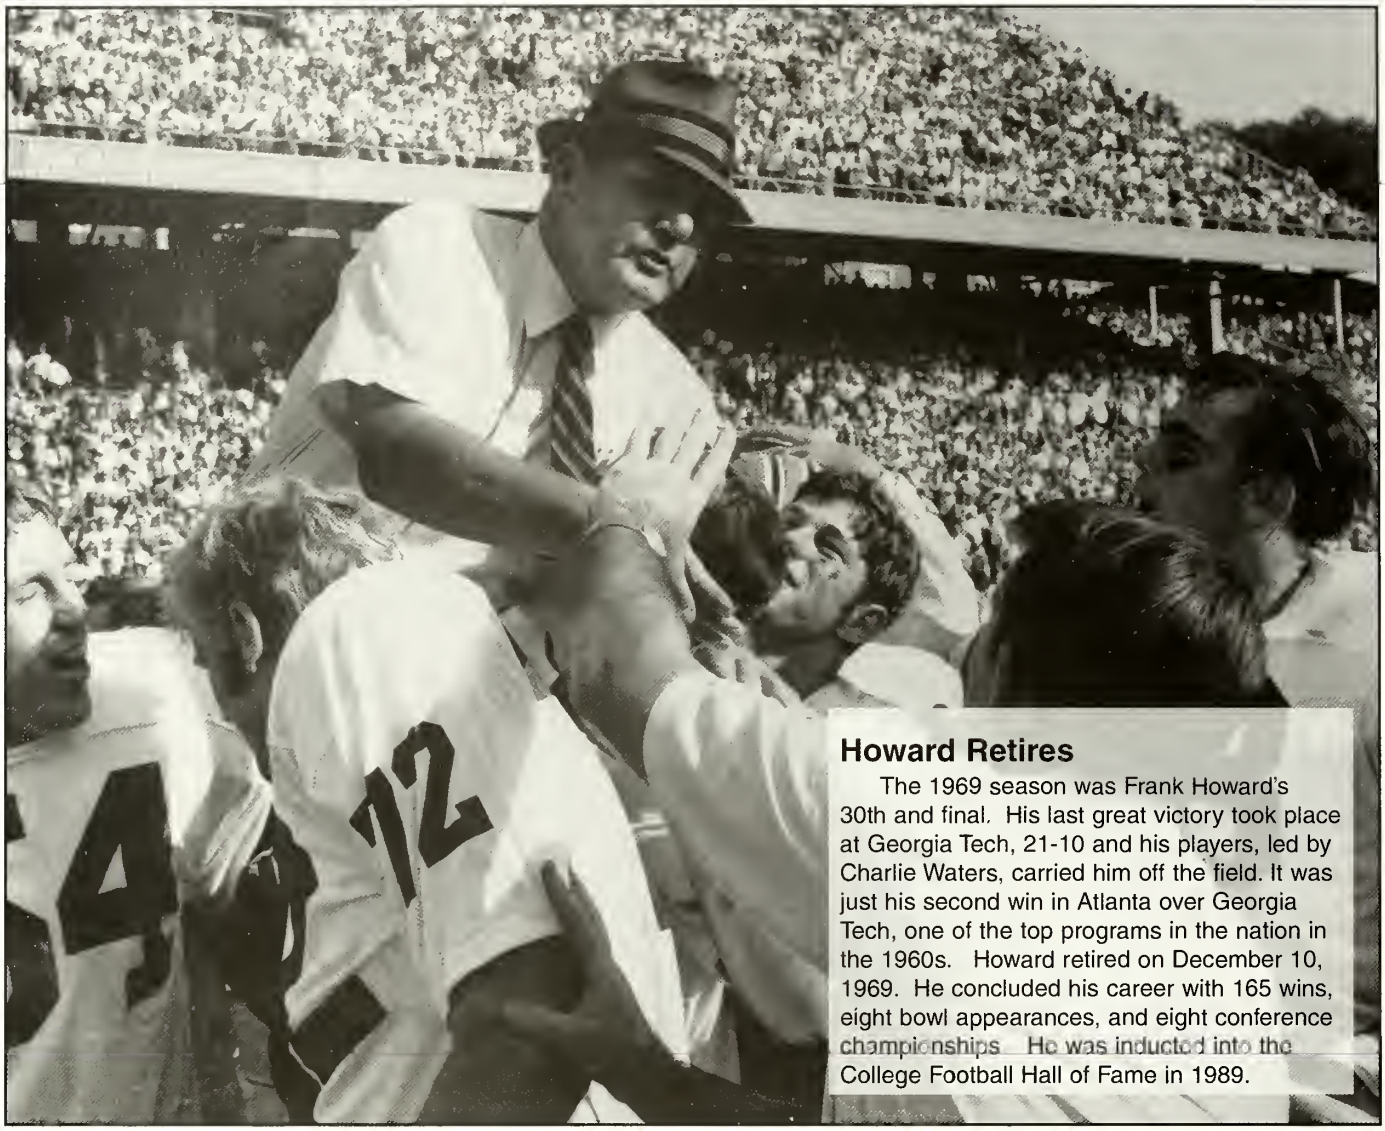
November 16, 1968—Ray Yauger gained 201 yards in 35 attempts, leading the Tigers to a 24-14 victory over North Carolina. It was the first of two 200-yard rushing games for Yauger. Charlie Waters also contributed 113 yards in seven receptions for the Tiger offense.



Howard Retires

The 1969 season was Frank Howard's 30th and final. His last great victory took place at Georgia Tech, 21-10 and his players, led by Charlie Waters, carried him off the field. It was just his second win in Atlanta over Georgia Tech, one of the top programs in the nation in the 1960s. Howard retired on December 10, 1969. He concluded his career with 165 wins, eight bowl appearances, and eight conference championships. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

Tiger Timeline

September 20, 1969—Charlie Waters, who would star in the NFL as a defensive back, had 132 yards receiving on just four catches in Clemson's victory over Virginia, 21-14.

October 4, 1969—Frank Howard gained victory in Atlanta over Georgia Tech in his final trip to the city. Clemson won the contest 21-10, as Ray Yauger rushed for 146 yards in 23 carries. The passing game was also outstanding as Charlie Waters had seven receptions for 101 yards. It was Waters third straight 100-yard receiving game, the longest streak of century receiving games by an individual in Clemson history. The Tigers carried Howard off the field. Clemson had played at Georgia Tech every time the Tigers played the Yellow Jackets in Howard's 30-year career. It was Howard's first win at Georgia Tech since 1945.

October 18, 1969—Ray Yauger gained a career high 202 yards rushing in a Clemson record tying 36 carries, leading Clemson to a 28-14 victory over Wake Forest. It was the most rushing yards by a Tiger in the decade of the 1960s.

October 25, 1969—Danny Ford was one of the Alabama captains for the Clemson-Alabama game at Clemson. Bob Hope was in town for a homecoming show that night. Bear Bryant's team defeated Clemson, 38-13. Clemson lost by a sizeable margin, but moved the ball consistently. In fact, Clemson had a 200-yard passer, 100-yard rusher and 100-yard receiver for just the fourth time in its history, yet lost by 25 points. Charlie Waters caught 10 passes for 144 yards to lead the Clemson offense. That is still one of just five times in Clemson history that a Tiger has had 10 or more receptions in a single game.

November 1, 1969—Frank Howard won his last game as a Clemson coach in Death Valley with a 40-0 win over Maryland. It is still Clemson's largest margin of victory against the Terps. Ray Yauger led the rushing attack with 110 yards in 25 carries. The victory was the 165th of Howard's career and the 350th in Clemson history.

November 8, 1969—For the second time in 1969, Clemson had a 100-yard rusher, 100-yard receiver and 200-yard passer, yet lost the game. Duke defeated the Tigers in Durham, 34-27 despite the offensive heroics of Ray Yauger (31-141 rushing), Jim Sursavage (3-101 receiving) and Tommy Kendrick's passing (12-26-239).

December 10, 1969—Coach Frank Howard resigned from football coaching duties, but remained in the capacity of athletic director. Howard had first come to Clemson in 1931 as an assistant under Jess Neely. Howard concluded his career with 165 victories. He served as head coach of the Tigers for 30 consecutive years. Only one coach in NCAA history has coached at one school for a longer period of time.

December 17, 1969—Hootie Ingram was named head football coach of the Clemson Tigers.

Memorial Stadium

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won six games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 54 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 187-70-7, including a 29-8-1 ledger over the last six seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.0 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need'.

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 55th year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

Memorial Stadium is one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the nation with capacity listed at 81,474.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium,"the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone,"Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C.teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

HE'S NEVER TAKEN AN EXTRA POINT FOR GRANTED.
If the game is close, maybe you'll slide to the edge of your seat as the kicker sets up for the extra point. Maybe.
But perhaps you don't realize just how important every point is to someone like Matthew.
Matthew knows everything there is to know about child abuse. He's seen it and he's felt it. He is an expert at hiding in the closet, under the bed and beneath the house. But for the first time in his life, Matthew is learning what it's like to be loved.
For every point Clemson scores this season, First Union will donate $25 to Helping Hands of Clemson, a non-profit organization of professionals and volunteers dedicated to helping and caring for a lot of children just like Matthew.
So, this year when you're cheering for the Tigers, cheer a little louder for Matthew. Everyone at First Union will be.

VICKERY HALL

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the only facility in the country built solely for the all-around education of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square -foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes.

The mission of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is to monitor, guide, and encourage student-athletes to fulfill their long term goal, and to achieve their academic and career potential.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about institutional commitment—giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Vickery Hall focuses on five primary areas to meet the student-athlete's needs.

Academic Support

Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs have provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation.

The Academic Counselor performs a variety of duties to track academic progress. Their duties include providing assistance in registration and priority scheduling, contacting faculty, personally checking classes, recording information, counseling sessions with student-athletes, providing diagnostic testing, and directing career aspirations.

The academic support goals are to improve academic performance, assist student-athletes to become goal oriented, and promote all student-athletes to maintain good scholarship, and promote independence in the academic arena.

Tutoring

One of the most prestigious programs that has received recognition essential to the growth of Vickery Hall is the tutorial program.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Program has been granted a Level 1 certification from the College of Reading and Learning Association, International Tutor Certification Program. Of the one hundred programs certified by CRLA, the Clemson Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is one of two student-athlete programs in the country to achieve this distinction.

Having tutor certification will enable student-athletes to be provided the highest quality of academic assistance possible. Approximately 80 tutors are hired to provide academic support in the many subject areas offered.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to provide the student-athletes at Clemson with the largest computer lab in the country. Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs' Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open seven days a week, for 16 hours on Monday through Thursday, and limited time on Saturday and Sunday. During exam periods the lab hours are extended.

The lab staff consists of graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course, as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Program is committed to providing state-of-the-art computing facilities. Seventeen new computers have recently been purchased and an additional purchase of 15 new computers is slated for the next academic year. A new computer lab has been constructed and make a total of 40 computers available for student-athletes.

All computers feature comprehensive software packages that enable student-athletes to complete assignments successfully. All computers are fully connected to the internet allowing for access of computers throughout the world for research and communication.

Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job searching skills and strategies, internships, practicum experience as well as summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities through a program that uses each year to gain information on the student-athletes.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, former Tiger gridder James Earle is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program, also coordinated by Earle, will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life——academically, athletically, and socially, is the personal growth program. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

The Vickery Hall Staff realizes that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group's special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to ensure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

The purpose of the Personal Growth and Development Program is to assist the student-athlete in making a successful transition into his/her university and athletic life. These programs will provide the student-athlete the opportunity to examine and explore issues and topics pertaining to his/her values, personal health and wellness, behavior, and goals. The specific topics will encompass both general transition issues and specific athletic issues as well.

Vickery Hall is a 27,000 square foot facility built specifically for student-athlete enrichment. The Dick Hendley computer room is a major aspect of that building.

Brad Pope

By Brett Berg

Family man. That is one way to describe Clemson senior Brad Pope. No, he is not married with children, but what he does have is a girlfriend of five years and a family that has supported him throughout his life. Pope's family is the number-one priority in his life, as he is in theirs.

The Clemson strong safety attributes most of his success in life to his parents, Mr. William and Barbara Pope, brothers Billy, Todd, and Travis, sister-in-law Linda and girlfriend Kelly Patrick. "It is because of them that I have been able to reach my goals. There is nothing I can do to give everything back to them."

Born in New Jersey, Pope had brief stints in Ohio, Massachusetts, New York and Virginia, before eventually winding up in Atlanta with his family. Some may have thought it difficult, always facing new schools and finding new friends, but not Pope. "It wasn't hard to adjust, you always make friends wherever you go. My parents always did what was best for us, they've always done that, and having your brothers and family with you was the most important thing."

In high school, Pope lettered four years in wrestling, two in football and two in baseball. He made it to the Georgia State High School Wrestling Championship in the 145-pound weight division his senior year.

"That was my most memorable sporting moment. I walked out of the tunnel, and the spotlight was on me with Phil Collins' "In the air tonight" blaring. There were 8,000 fans in a frenzy."

This performance at the state meet led to a wrestling scholarship at Penn State University for his first semester of college, but being away from the family and the desire to play football brought him to Clemson. Travis Pope, Brad's brother, was a member of the 1991-92 Clemson wrestling team, and encouraged him to compete on the mat. Brad was supposed to do just that, but he really wanted to compete on the field.

Wrestling was already well into the season, so Pope figured now was the time to give football the chance and take the shot he so desperately wanted. "I did not know anyone on the football team or in the program. I talked to Barney Farrar (a graduate assistant at the time), "and he was really encouraging as far as walk-ons, and he encouraged me to come out."

After sitting on the sideline that first season, adversity struck again. There was a coaching change, so Pope had to prove himself all over to the new defensive backs coach, Miles Aldridge. "Basically I had to start all over again as a walk-on, so it was a process of starting over each time. You have to prove yourself everyday, you can make a good play one day, but you have to come back and you have to make two more the next day."

Pope grabbed the coaches attention as well as two interceptions in the 1994 Spring Game. They both came in the first quarter and he returned them for 35 yards. Then during the regular season of 1994, Pope appeared in all 11 games for Clemson, usually on special teams, where he made six tackles. This performance and hard work enabled him to be the only walk-on sophomore to earn a letter that year.

After another coaching change, Charlie Harbison came in as the defensive backs coach in 1995, and Pope was ready to prove himself again. He did, and has worked well in coach Harbison's system. "I really believe in Coach Harbison and what he does. He is a motivator, which has been great for me. He pushes you, tells you when you did something wrong, but also pats you on the back and tells you when you did something right."

Pope has risen from walk-on to an integral aspect of the Clemson defense.

In 1995, Pope tied for the team lead in special teams tackles with 13, and was earning more and more time in the secondary, posting three tackles in four different games. In fact, he was involved in more plays than any other walk-on on defense.

This year, as last year, Pope is listed as the second-team strong safety. In the first three games of 1996, he has almost equaled his play total from all of last season. He has recorded 11 tackles, 9 of them solo, and he recovered a fumble, September 7 against Furman. He has reached his goal of playing big-time football.

Pope has reached another goal this year, he can no longer be called a walk-on. He is on full scholarship this year. "The scholarship is for my parents, I always wanted to get that for them to say thanks for everything.

"What kept me going through the hard times, was my family and my girlfriend. My parents haven't missed a game, even when I wasn't playing. They have been an inspiration for me, they have backed me all the time and are sticking by me no matter what."

While spending some time with his family in Atlanta this summer, Pope was up close and personal to an event that many of us will never forget. It came at the end of Day 9 of the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta, Saturday, July 27. He and his family had been in Olympic Centennial Park and left to eat dinner, but on their way back by, the bomb went off. They were about 100 yards away from the light tower where the bomb detonated.

"All you saw was a cloud of smoke and it was very loud," said Pope. "It shook the ground beneath you. Your heart just dropped, you knew what it was. Everyone started running and saying people were dead. It was just chaos."

Thankfully, Brad and his family were not injured and were able to enjoy some of the Olympics, even though they were shaken up by the experience. Pope was able to see women's gymnastics, track and field, and of course freestyle wrestling.

Back on the Clemson campus, Pope is an economics major with a career 3.23 grade point average. He earned a position on the dean's list last fall and the ACC Academic Honor Roll for 1995-96. He is involved with the Fellowship for Christian Athletes and is involved with Lifeline, Leaders in Football and Academics, a program through Vickery Hall that began this year.

Pope is scheduled to graduate in December of this year and plans to stick around Tigertown in the spring. Pope admits this year is very important to him and his family. It could be the last time he ever puts pads on again. It could be the last time anyone plays sports in his family. So before he goes out, he wants to thank and honor those who have helped him get here, his family.

It is fitting that on Parents' Day at Memorial Stadium, Brad Pope will get to do a little honoring himself. He will be honoring not only his parents, but his whole family.

So as you watch the pregame ceremonies today, take a special look for number 31 and his parents. Maybe even look for the rest of the family in the crowd, because as he says, "they are my inspiration."

Tampa Bay Tigers

By Jessica Reo

There are approximately 104 division I schools in the United States. Multiply that number by 85, as in scholarships allowable by the NCAA, and you get 8,840, that would be considered scholarship players. That does not count the actual number out on the field competing for playing time. Now, add to those numbers the competition for excellence in the divisions 1, 2, and 3-A system. The number of athletes playing football is astronomical, and the number of those athletes who want to make it to the NFL is pretty much the same as those playing.

Now, take those growing numbers and consider the chances of one player from one team making it to the NFL ranks. Pretty slim, right? Now, consider the chances of four players from a college team making it to the same team as professional NFL players. The numbers get even smaller, but, there's an exception to every rule, isn't there? Take, for instance, the example of Darnell Stephens and Wardell Rouse, who actually played on the same college team for two years with the Tigers, and add to that Tracy Johnson and Larry Ryans, two more former Clemson Tigers. All four are currently Tampa Bay Buccaneers, and all are former Tigers. The odds that all four could come together to play for the same team at the same time in their careers is staggering, the fact that two actually played together in college is astounding, when you consider the competition all had to overcome against to attain their goals.

Having had the opportunity to speak to Darnell Stephens and Wardell Rouse, and having the chance to work with them during their careers with the Tigers, we were interested in finding out their feelings about being together, about being in the pros, and about playing with former Tigers.

"The difference between college football and professional football," says Darnell Stephens, currently a linebacker for the Bucs, "is that this is a business. It is a job for us now. I have to be prepared ever day. There is a big difference between being in class and at school. The coaches depend on you to do the job here. I leave the house at 6:30 am and go to the Buc's complex and I don't return at night until the job is done."

A little bit different than the college days when the student-athletes had school, meetings, lifting, practice and then, a social life. "It's rough," states Stephens. "But I enjoy it. It is what I've wanted to do my whole life. I will say it's a double-edged sword now, though. It is a job, but it's still a game. I have accepted both sides of that and I've learned to mix the two. Sundays, I get to go and do what I love, play football. During the week, I have to work to make it through to the weekend."

Rouse agrees, commenting, "I love it, playing for the pros. I wouldn't have it any other way. It is a great feeling to be out there and to play the game that you love. And playing with the best in the business is great."

The main difference between college and the pros on the field that both Rouse, another linebacker for the Bucs, and Stephens agree on is the speed of the pro games. "During my first preseason game," says Rouse, "I thought it was like a college bowl game. I thought, 'this is easy, I've been watching all of these people for years'. Then came my first regular season game. It was a huge difference the first time I stepped on the field. The adjustment to make is the speed. The faster you make it, the easier you have it, but it's much, much quicker than in college."

"Our first NFL game was against Philadelphia," says Stephens. "We were on the opening kickoff on special teams. Wardell and I beside one another, looking at each other. It gave me goosebumps. Then I got the first hit. I realized that the players hit harder and that it is all based on the speed of the game. In the pros, it's tremendously faster." Being prepared for that first hit, as shocking as it was, came from talking to others on the team.

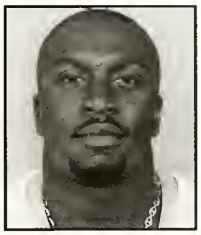
So, is it easier to have three other Tigers to talk to during this 'adjustment' period? Says Rouse, "I think having Darnell here with me has made it a little bit easier. We help each other out. When you have questions, it is difficult sometimes to go to guys who have been in the league a long time and don't have the time to explain things. It has been a lot easier, I think, to have someone here that I know. We had to tutor ourselves together to make it through.

Rouse and Stephens were among Clemson's top tacklers in 1994. Now they are teammates with the Tampa Bay Bucs.

"Tracy (Johnson) and I didn't know one another when we came into camp last year, but we talked in practice when I first came to Tampa Bay and we had something in common (Clemson), something to talk about. We've become good friends."

Stephens comments, "It's good to know that someone here went through the same things you did in college with basically the same program. We talked when Tracy got to Tampa Bay and with Larry about how it was when they were with the Tigers. That made it a little bit easier and I'm glad those two are here with Wardell and me."

Wardell Rouse



Darnell Stephens

Tracy Johnson

Another difference between college and the pro ranks is that there is no more class, in the true sense of the word. Both Darnell and Wardell have learned the task of the social-life and what it means not to be in a college setting anymore. Both have changed since their college days.

Darnell is now a family man, married to Val Stephens, and has a son, Brenden, who is 15 months old and already three feet tall. "Brenden gave me strength when I came to Tampa Bay. There are a lot of rookie free agents that don't make it. He gave me something to play for, something to work for. He is my heart. Having him has given me another incentive to get the job done out on the field."

Wardell is enjoying the Tampa Bay area with his german shepard, "Dino" and his family comes to all the home games of the Buccaneers. His mother, Rosa, brings his brothers and sisters to every game from the nearby town of Clewiston, where Wardell was raised. "In some ways, it was easier for me to come to Florida because my family is down here. I'm happy to be closer to my mom." The disadvantage, sometimes, is that everyone knows him. "People, friends, call a lot, asking for things to be autographed."

One of the main things that both Wardell and Darnell have learned from their experiences in the pros and in the college ranks is the importance of their education. Rouse is working to finish his elementary education degree and Stephens is working toward his management degree. Says Rouse, "I will actually be attending school in the spring and finishing up my degree. I have one year of class and I need to student-teach for part of that. I'd like to become certified to teach in Florida, but I'm still going to receive my degree from Clemson through the NFL."

Both Wardell Rouse and Darnell Stephens have come a long way from the Clemson ranks. Their chances of making it to the pros were slim, in looking at numbers, great when looking at ability. The chances of making it together were even less likely, and the fact that they joined two other Clemson grads on the team in Larry Ryans and Tracy Johnson is even more unbelievable. But football is a game of chances, and for these four Tigers, the odds paid off.

MOTHER-OF-THE-YEAR

by Meredith Merrit

A mother is someone we hold dear to our hearts. Of all the jobs in the world, hers is the one that requires great strength, effort, and patience. Between balancing a household and taking care of the children, a mother's typical day rarely has time for anything else. But a Clemson mother is an exception to this rule. A Clemson mother is one who not only finds time for her family, but also is involved with her church and community. These are the mothers, with a deep-seeded love for Clemson University, that Tiger Brotherhood chooses to honor as their Mother-of-the-Year each year on Parent's Day.

Today Mary Morgan is being recognized and honored for not only her love and devotion to her family, but also to the community and to Clemson University as this year's Mother-of-the-Year.

Mrs. Morgan was born in Salisbury, NC, but became a South Carolinian and a Clemson resident when she married a Clemson student in 1947. She attended Spencer High School and then Pheiffer College, where she graduated with an associate arts degree. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Walser were residents of Salisbury. Mr. Walser was master mechanic for a textile plant located in Salisbury.

In 1947 she married Dr. Harvey Morgan, who is a Professor Emeritus from the school of education and the industrial education department at Clemson. Dr. Morgan is also from Salisbury and attended the same high school as Mrs. Morgan. He came to Clemson in 1957 with his new wife to attend graduate school. After earning his master's degree he was hired full time by the university. He later completed his doctorate at N.C. State and then came back to Clemson, where he taught for 30 years.

The Morgans have three children, all of whom have ties to Clemson.

Their eldst child, Beth Morgan Poole, attended Western Carolina for her undergraduate degree, but then came to Clemson and received her Master's Degree in Education. She lives in Clemson with her husband Danny Poole, who is an Assistant Trainer with the Athletic Departament. Beth teaches Physical Education at Palmetto and is also the girls basketball coach.

Their next two children, Kitty Morgan McNeill and Ben Morgan, are twins. Kitty went to Winthrop for her undergraduate degree and attended Emory University for her graduate degree. She is now Director of the Library at Oxford College, which is part of Emory. She is married to Terry McNeill, who is Human Resources Director with Golden State Foods and is a Clemson graduate. Their son Ben graduated from Auburn, but received his Science Teachers Certificate from Clemson. He and his wife, the former Nancy Strom, live in Raleigh, NC, where he is a science teacher in the Raleigh School system. Nancy, who is also a Clemson graduate, is currently attending med school at Duke. Although she is enrolled at Duke, Mrs. Morgan assures everyone that her blood still runs orange.

Mary Morgan is the 1996 Clemson Mother-of-the-Year.

During the years that her husband was completing his doctorate degree, Mrs. Morgan began work as the Administrative Assistant to the Vice President of Student Affairs. The Office of Student Affairs bears the responsibility of overseeing all student life and activites.

Walter Cox, who held the office at the time, describes this position as one that required, "a person who understood and loved students, had patience and a willingness to spend time necessary to meet the needs of a student." Not only did she deal with students on a school level by helping them with activities such as Homecoming, Tigerama, and other events, they became "her" students, almost an extended part of her family. Mr. Cox describes her as, "a warm and caring" person who "provided answers or specific directions to the best source of help."

Throughout the years she has also had great community presence by helping with her church and its organizations. She also worked at the elementary school library that her children attended. One of her noteworthy community contributions involved the building of the Clemson Community pool on Old Stone Road, a facility that is still active today.

Not only do her children have Clemson ties, but her brother went to Clemson as well as did two brothers-in-laws. Mrs. Morgan has three grandchildren. Beth and Danny have two girls, Jacqui and Abby, and Kitty and Terry have a boy, Morgan.

Throughout her 20 years of working in the Student Affairs office Mrs. Morgan has balanced the time between raising a family, working and being involved with her community. She has opened her heart and home to many Clemson students throughout the years and has always been there for anyone who needed support.

President Emeritus Robert C. Edwards considers her, "the right person in the right place. Her character, integrity and compassion have been great comfort and inspiration for her family and for the students of Clemson University."

"It was a bit overwhelming to receive the honor of Mother-of-the-Year. There are so many worthy people that deserve this," said Mrs. Morgan.

The Mother-of-the-Year award is a traditional part of Parent's Day. Each year a Mother-of-the-Year is chosen by Tiger Brotherhood and is recognized before the game. The senior football players' parents are also recognized before the game, but it is the Mother-of-the-Year that has the honor of dotting the "i" as the Tiger band spells out "Tigers." Parent's Day, which began in the 1960's, was orginally Dad's Day, but was changed as the Clemson family wanted to recognize both the mothers and fathers for their support.

This year's Parent's Day will be a very special day for all Clemson families, but it will be etched especially into the hearts of the Morgan family as Tiger Brotherhood proudly salutes Mary Morgan as the 1996 Mother-of-the-Year due to her compassion, loyalty, dedication and love to her family and to the many students who have been able to work with her throughout the years.

Clemson Olympians

By Emily Rabon

Excitement filled the South five years ago when the International Olympic Committee announced that the 1996 Olympics were to be held in Atlanta. As the time for the great event grew closer, the excitement grew as well. Athletes began preparing for the greatest athletic event in the world and dreaming of their chance to receive some of the glory. Each day, this dream was their top priority, and in order to achieve it, they had to be willing to endure a lot of hard work and preparation.

Then the time arrived to see how hard the athletes had worked. After all the tryouts and tests, 12 former or current Clemson athletes survived. Never in history had there been that many athletes with ties to Clemson University competing in the same Olympics. At the competitions, these athletes saw almost as must time on the award stand as they did in the venue of competition. In total, these athlete's walked away with three gold medals and three bronze awards.

Carlton Chambers was a member of Canada's 4x100 meter relay team that surprised everyone and defeated the U.S. team to take home the gold. Before their upset this year, the United States had only been defeated four times in the past 25 Olympic Games in this event. Chambers is one of the two Clemson Olympic athletes that has returned to campus with eligibility remaining. The Olympics was the continuation of a dream summer for Chambers, who was a double All-American as a sophomore for the Clemson track team at the 1996 NCAAs. His All-America finishes in the 100 meters and 200 meters were a surprise to many observers considering he was only a sophomore on Clemson's top 20 team.

Despite his youth, Chambers was already familiar with International competition before the Olympic games. He represented Canada in the World Junior Championships, the World Championships and the Commonwealth Games. Chambers feels that these games helped prepare him for the Olympics.

A former teacher wrote Chambers when he first came to Clemson predicting that he would win it all in the Olympics, but in the 2000 Games, not 1996. "I originally thought of the 1996 games as a 'warm-up' for the 2000 Olympics," said Chambers. "That is when I felt I would be at my peak as a sprinter. It was a shock to win a medal this year."

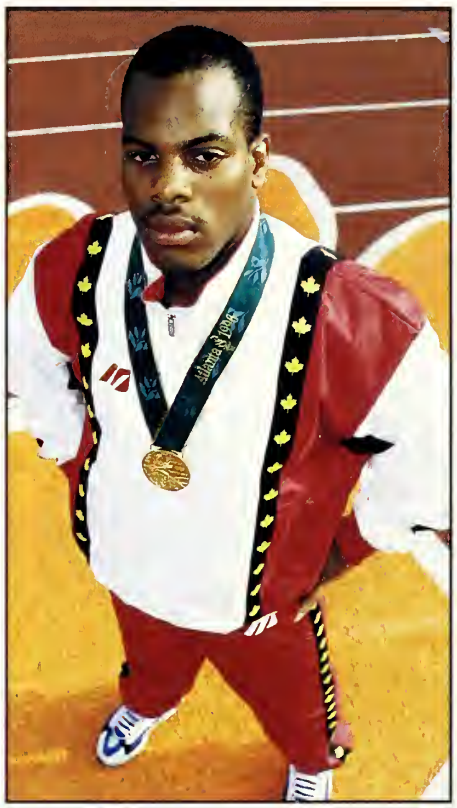
But obviously, not too much of a shock. Chambers had faith the Canadian team could win the Gold Medal the entire time. "The team always knew we could beat the U.S. team, but the best part was doing it in America. We showed the world that they (the U.S. team) were not unbeatable."

The toughest thing for Chambers to do now is to be normal. "It is hard to go from winning a Gold medal to coming back and going to class and being normal. It was just such an incredible experience." As far as track goes, Chambers knows he has some high ideals to live up to now. "The Olympics taught me how to deal with pressure. There is a lot of pressure from expectations, from myself as well as from others. I have proven what I can do , and now I have to live up to it."

Clemson baseball was well represented in the Olympic Games by pitchers Kris Benson and Billy Koch, and catcher-designated hitter Mathew LeCroy. They were all members of the of the number-four ranked 1996 Tiger baseball team, and they joined together again to help Team USA bring home the bronze medal.

Benson was a highly decorated athlete during his years at Clemson, winning the ACC Player of the Year and the Smith Award National Player of the Year in 1996. He was also the number-one pick of the major league draft by the Pittsburgh Pirates, Clemson's first number-one draft pick regardless of sport. He had a 14-2 record for the Tigers this season and ranked among the national leaders in wins, strikeouts and ERA.

Benson was still a student in high school in Kennesaw, GA, when it was announced that the Olympics would be held in Atlanta. He turned to a friend and told him he would be there. But it was a long road that was covered with a few dark clouds. In the summer of 1995, Benson was cut from the U.S. National team, the forerunner of the Olympic Team. After a summer spent in the weight room, Benson was back and better than ever. This time he made the team and the medal stand.



Chambers won a gold medal as a member of the Canadian 4x100 meter relay team. He is a junior at Clemson this year.

The pageantry of the opening ceremonies is a memory Benson will never forget. "The part of the opening ceremonies where you come in with all the athletes was the most exciting," said Benson. "Running from Atlanta Fulton County Stadium really pumped us up. Seeing those 80,000 people there cheering for us put me on top of the world. When we were running around the field, I felt like everyone was on my side."

Koch was the fourth pick overall in the Major League Draft when he was chosen by the Toronto Blue Jays. He was in Benson's shadow much of the year, but Koch was the third highest draft pick in Clemson history regardless of sport. He was fourth on the Clemson career list and eighth in the nation in strikeouts in 1996. Koch started and pitched 6.2 innings in Clemson's 8-5 win over Oklahoma State, Clemson's first College World Series win in 19 years. He also came in as relief ace and was credited with a save in the College World Series win over Alabama. He and Benson are now still attending Clemson, but will leave after this semester for the pros. They recently both signed multi-million dollar contracts.

Mathew LeCroy, another Olympic medalist returning to Clemson, felt the experience he received will help him greatly in the future with the Tigers. "There were a lot of good coaches there who helped me out, especially the catching coach. He helped me with my defensive skills, which is where I needed the most help. Being around the other players, many of which were high draft picks, also helped me a great deal."

LeCroy was one of the last players to be named to the team, yet was one of the tournaments biggest surprises. He started all nine games played in Atlanta as designated hitter and batted .393, with four home runs and 10 runs batted in. He was second on the team in home runs in the Olympics and twice his home runs were shown as part of highlights on NBC's prime time coverage. tender to join Koch and Benson as first-round draft picks next year.

Kim Graham is a former Tiger who definitely struck gold at the Centennial Games. Graham was the third leg of the US Women's 4x400 meter relay team and brought the team from a 10-meter deficit to a 10-meter lead to ensure the gold. Graham still holds the record in the 400 at Clemson. She set the record on her first 400-meter competition of her senior year, and it was to be a training exercise. She concluded her collegiate career as a 15- time ACC Champion, six of which were won in the 200. Graham became the first women's track athlete in Clemson history to win an Olympic Gold Medal.

Also striking gold was former Tiger tennis star Gigi Fernandez. Fernandez claimed her second gold medal in the tennis doubles, as she also won the 1992 Gold in women's doubles. She was teamed with Mary Jo Fernandez and their victory concluded a gold medal sweep for the US Women's team.

Benson won 21 games between his season with Clemson and the 1996 Olympic team.

Since her career at Clemson, Fernandez has gone on to win three Wimbledon Championships, four US Open Championships, five French Open Championships and the World Doubles Championship twice. Fernandez only spent one year at Clemson before going pro, and in that short time she accumulated many titles. She is third in career winning percentages in singles and was number one in the ACC in doubles play. She advanced to the NCAA finals in 1983, the only Lady Tiger to advance to the individual championship match.

Clemson soccer stars Imad Baba and Miles Joseph were starters on the US men's soccer team, which went 1-1-1. Unfortunately, the team failed to advance to the semifinals. While at Clemson, Baba was voted first-team All-ACC in 1995 and Joseph received the same honor in 1993 and 1994. Both are now playing professionally in the major soccer league. Baba is playing with the New England Revolution and Joseph is with the Dallas Stars.

Michael Green made a return appearance at the 1996 Olympics. He also competed in 1992 in Barcelona as a member of the 4x100 meter relay squad for Jamaica. In his second Olympics, he advanced to the final round in the 100-meter dash where he placed seventh. While at Clemson, Green became the first athlete in Clemson history to win two NCAA Individual National Championships in the same academic year. He captured the 55-meter in the NCAA Indoor Championships and the 100-meters at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in 1993.

Mark McKoy also made his second appearance at the Olympics. He was the defending 110-meter high hurdles champion from the 1992 Games for Canada and was hoping to win Austria's first track medal ever. He did not advance to the finals in the 1996 Games, but the 32-year-old was featured in Sports Illustrated's Olympic Preview Issue. McKoy is a human United Nations, as he was born in Guyana, ran track in the United States at Clemson, has competed in the Olympics for Canada and Austria and lives in Monoco. While competing for Clemson in 1980, he won the ACC Championship in the high hurdles and was a key reason Clemson won its first ever ACC Team outdoor men's track championship.

Former Clemson track athlete and four-time All-American Cormac Finnerty competed in the 5000 meter for the Irish track team. Finnerty set many records in the 5000 meters while at Clemson, at both the Tar Heel Invitational in 1991 and at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville, TN in 1992. He also rewrote the record books at the NCAA Championships in both 1992 and 1993. One mark he made still stands today. Finnerty still holds the record for the fastest time on Clemson's Cross Country 8000 meter course that he set in 1991.

Former Tiger tennis player Owen Casey was another former Clemson athlete participating in the event. While at Clemson, Casey was the ACC Number-One Doubles Champion in 1990. He finished the 1990 season 70th in singles and 32nd in doubles play. He participated in the 1990 NCAA Doubles Tournament and reached the Final 16 along with partner J.L. Guillou. Casey led the 1990 squad in singles wins with a 20-13 record. Casey left Clemson and opted for professional play in 1990.

Building a National University

Clemson University has a long tradition of attracting the best students in South Carolina. In SAT scores, class rank, graduation rates and many other measures, Clemson students outrank their Palmetto State peers. Now, Clemson students are expanding that tradition of excellence, earning national recognition and in the process helping Clemson build its own national reputation for excellence. We couldn't list them all, so allow us to introduce a representative few. At Clemson, champions don't meet only on the athletic fields. They gather in the classrooms, laboratories, libraries and residence halls every day.

IPTAY

IPTAY is widely regarded as the father of Athletic Fundraising. It all started in 1934 and from a private meeting of a small group of Clemson supporters has sprung an organization that raised over $8 million last year. The organization plays a major role in ensuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

The organization also has helped finance facilities that help student-athletes on and off the field. Vickery Hall, is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. It is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have had their highest cumululative GPA on record for three consecutive semesters.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson, providng $2.8 million in funds, currently helping 34 students at Clemson.

IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett has continued to keep Clemson among the best in the nation in terms of fund-raising by the establishment of the IPTAY Endowment Program. In April of 1994, he kicked off the beginning of the endowment of positions program at the 85th birthday celebration for former Clemson Coach Frank Howard. The endowments are secure with a $100,000 donation paid over a five-year period.

"This is a chance to broaden the horizons of IPTAY," said Executive Director of IPTAY George Bennett. "It gives an individual or a group of people an opportunity to endow a position that meant something during their college playing days, or to honor a person at a position. The money being endowed is going to secure our future as the interest is used to carry on our program forever.

"Fans interested in seeing IPTAY and Clemson athletics succeed down the road now have the perfect means to do that. They can create endowments that can't be touched whereby, only the support will continue. Thus this is a way to ensure that the programs they are in favor of are continued. It has been institutionalized at several colleges and it seemed to be a natural thing to do at Clemson. We have the people who are very supportive and willing to take part."

The first endowment was for the head football coach position to honor the legendary Frank Howard. Howard coached football at Clemson 39 years, 30 as the head coach. During his tenure the Tigers won 165 games, 100 of which were against conference foes. "Former players and friends of Coach Howard made donations over the cost of attending the celebration program and that was enough for the endowment. Their gifts were a way of permanently thanking Coach Howard for all that he did for Clemson.

"Following Coach Howard's birthday party we began to look for an individual to help us support and promote the program and Bill Hudson's name came up. He was an outstanding player at Clemson who has been equally successful in the business world. We went to him and explained the program and its goals and that we were looking for his leadership to help get the program going and he accepted."

Hudson responded favorably. "Clemson has been good to our family and I have been fortunate in business, which allowed me to be involved in this program," said the former Clemson tackle. "Two of my brothers, my son, and I came to Clemson on a scholarship. The entire family is grateful so I put the endowment of the tackle position in the family's name."

Bill Hudson, a 1956 graduate, was a three-year letter winner at tackle who played professionally for the Montreal Alouettes, the San Diego Chargers, and the Boston Patriots. He earned Pro Bowl honors in 1962. His brother Bob was also a lineman at Clemson who lettered four straight years and played over 10 years professionally.

"We have a foundation in academics and it is something special to get a letter of thanks from a student who received a scholarship through our donation," said Bill. "That's a great feeling so we were willing to do a similar thing for the athletic department. The permanency of this is what makes it so important, it will be around much longer than I am. Future generations of my family will be able to enjoy and contribute to our endowment."

Mr. Hudson sees this program growing into a large part of Clemson's athletic funding. "When other people see information on the endowment program and learn what it is about this program will grow. Success builds on success. People who are looking to honor a friend or family member now have a great means to do that. "

Besides the Hudson's family endowment four other football endowments were made and one managers position in the first year. Now there are over 15 positions endowed. The goal of the program is to get every position endowed. "From the free safety to the number three player in women's tennis, we hope to have every position endowed," said Bennett. "We will likely use the Avenue of Champions as a physical place to honor these people further for the positions they have endowed. That will have plenty of space, so we will be working to have as many endowments across all of our sports.

"The personal satisfaction that they helped Clemson University, specifically the Athletic department, and that they are securing its future are the main reasons for becoming involved."

And with more involvement Clemson will have a very secure future for generations to come.

Tommy West and Rick Barnes are popular speakers at Spring IPTAY meetings.

Allens' Creations, Inc. - Frame & Art Gallery - in Clemson sadly announces the unexpected death of artist Bill Stroud on July 6, 1996. Mr. Stroud, of Cayce, S.C., was 46 years old.

On April 1, 1996 a cooperative effort between Allens' Creations, Inc., Mr. Stroud, Clemson University, and the Walker Course led to the release of "The Tiger Paw Hole - #17 The Walker Course At Clemson University." This is the ONLY "officially authorized" and licensed limited edition print of the signature hole on the new golf course at Clemson. At the time of his death, Mr. Stroud had signed only 700 of the 1000 copies of "The Tiger Paw Hole."

Mr. Stroud's first Clemson print release was "On a Clear Day" featuring Tillman Hall in the winter. The remaining copies of "The Tiger Paw Hole" and "On A Clear Day" will be sold on a first-come first-served basis. Please call for availability and current prices.

To view other Clemson prints you can call or write for color brochures - or you can check out our Internet web site at http://www.allenscreations.com. You can e-mail your questions or comments to: aci@innova.net.

STADIUM EMERGENCIES

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:

Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

Clemson Traditions

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillan, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley because his teams always got killed. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard started calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on. It is now in its 55th year.

Many people think the name is derived from the fact that there rests a cemetary outside the fence on the pressbox side of the stadium. But, although it would make sense, the name was first coined by Lonnie McMillan.

First Friday Parade

The Clemson football season kicks off each year with the annual First Friday Parade. The once a year event takes place on the Friday afternoon prior to the first home football game. Floats from various fraternities and sororities and other campus organizations are represented in the parade that rolls down main street in Clemson. The parade culminates at the Amphitheatre in the middle of campus where the first Pep Rally of the year takes place.

The Grand Marshall of the Parade is featured at the Pep Rally. Recent Grand Marshalls have ranged from current PGA professional Dillard Pruitt, to College Football Hall of Fame legends Jess Neely and Frank Howard, to noted television announcers Brent Musburger and Ara Parseghian.

Homecoming

Clemson holds a classic homecoming every year. Displays by fraternities and sororities that are months in the making, are built on Bowman Field the week prior to the Homecoming Weekend. It is an event that draws alumni and friends of Clemson from all over the country.

The Friday evening prior to the game, Tigerama is held in Death Valley, an event that attacts over 35,000 fans. The Homecoming Queen and her court are presented in addition to Homecoming skits, a pep rally and a large and loud fireworks display.

The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on September 30, 1922 when Clemson met Centre. Clemson has a 52-17-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .742 winning percentage and has outscored the opposition 1519-930 in those previous 71 games. The average margin of victory is 21 to 12. Clemson has been especially successful on Homecoming in recent years, posting a 22-1-2 record since 1970.

"Death valley really lives up to its image. I was impressed with this stadium. When you put 80,000 people in here, it really feels like they are on top of you. I would hate to be Georgia Tech or whoever else comes in here."

Steve Young, San Francisco 49ers

Orange Pants

The tradition of the Clemson team wearing orange pants is new according to tradition standards. The Tigers first wore the all orange uniform for the final game of the 1980 season against South Carolina. Clemson upset the 14th ranked Gamecocks and Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, 27-6. The victory set the stage for Clemson's National Championship run of 1981.

Overall, Clemson is 29-6 in Orange pants since that 1980 game, including a 16-1 record in games played in the month of November. The Tigers have won seven in a row in orange pants, including last year's important victory over North Carolina. Clemson has nine wins over top 20 opponents when wearing Orange pants, including the 22-15 National Championship clinching win over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl.

Howard's Rock

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones' 19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

Clemson players have been rubbing Howard's Rock prior to running down the hill since 1967.

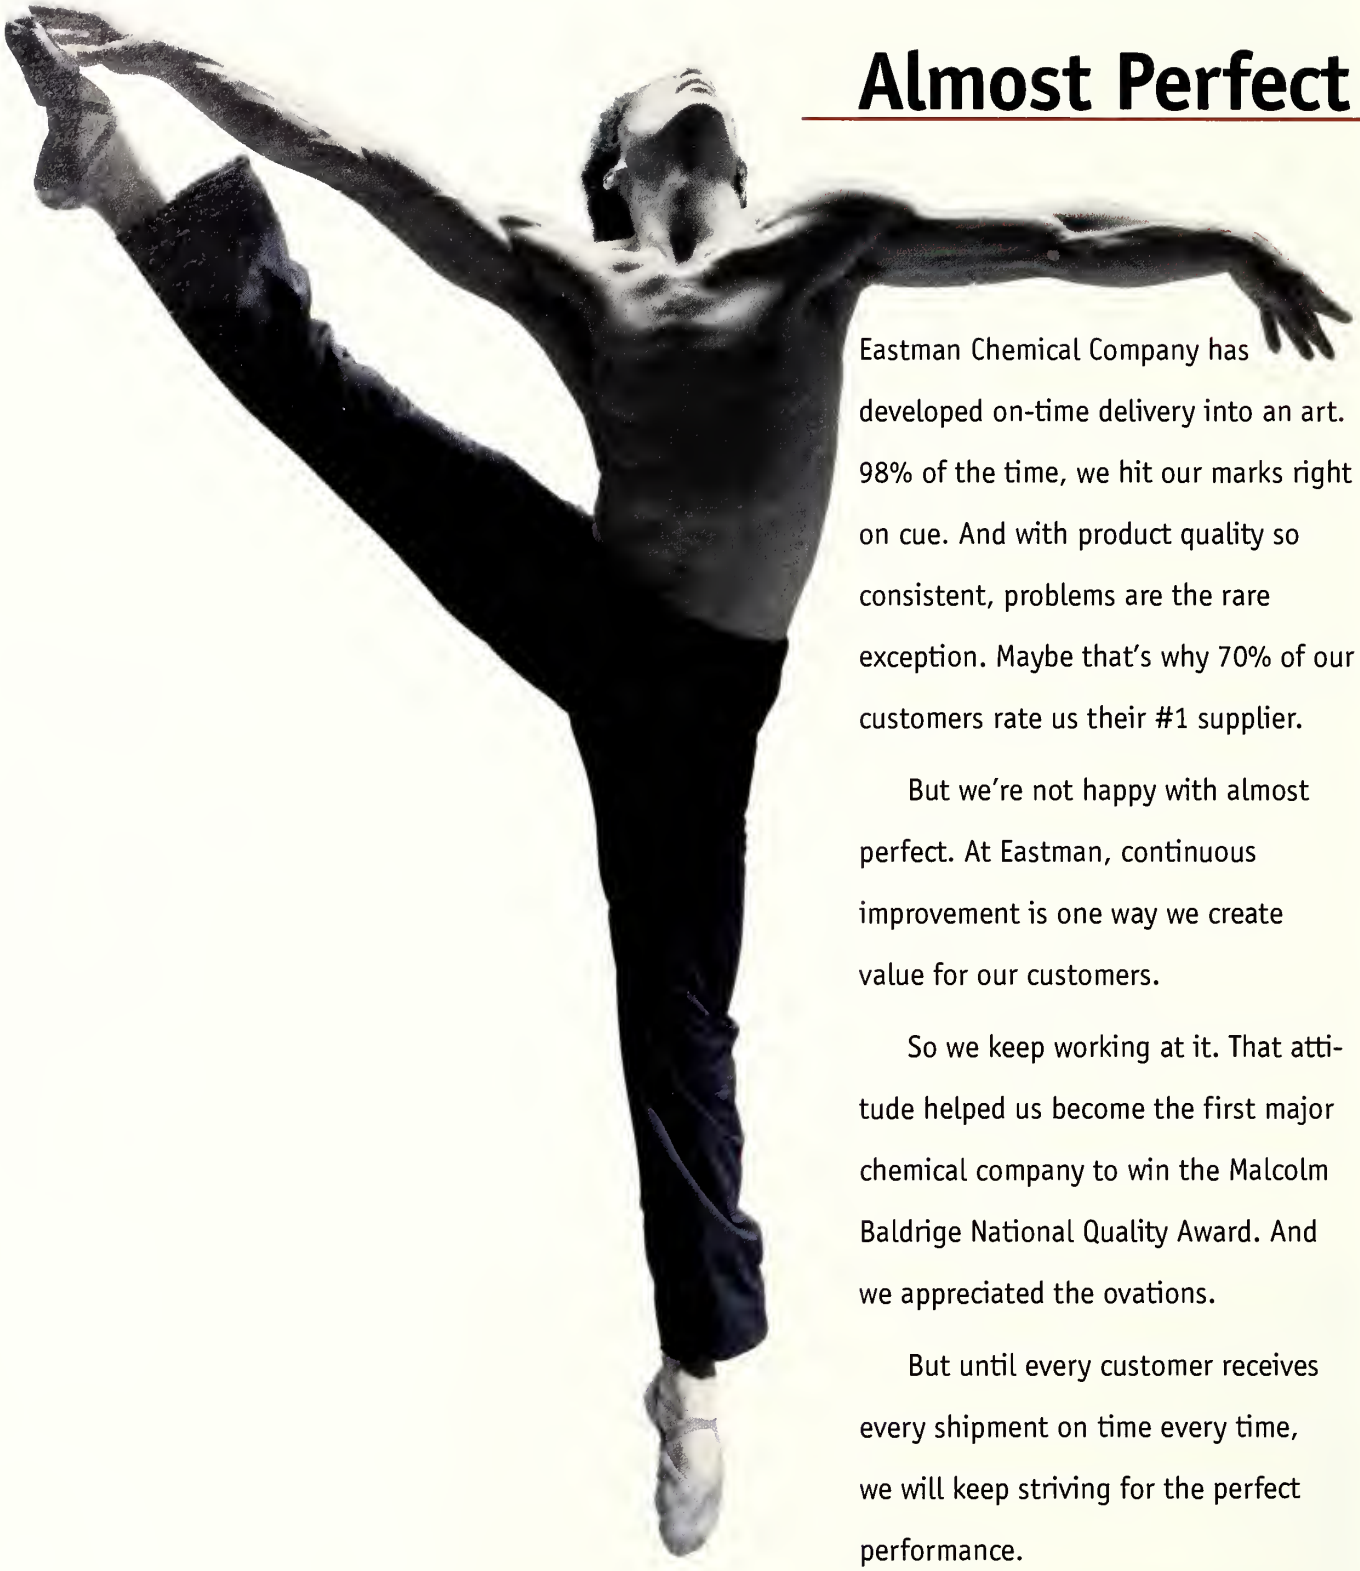
Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 249 times heading into 1996.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation, it used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium.

Running down the Hill is one of the greatest stadium entrances in all of sports



Almost Perfect

Eastman Chemical Company has developed on-time delivery into an art. 98% of the time, we hit our marks right on cue. And with product quality so consistent, problems are the rare exception. Maybe that's why 70% of our customers rate us their #1 supplier.

But we're not happy with almost perfect. At Eastman, continuous improvement is one way we create value for our customers.

So we keep working at it. That attitude helped us become the first major chemical company to win the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. And we appreciated the ovations.

But until every customer receives every shipment on time every time, we will keep striving for the perfect performance.

Let your friends at Eastman demonstrate the art of service and quality. Call 800-EASTMAN.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULING

by Tim Bourret

So you are getting married and your entire family schedules its fall activities around Clemson football games. You call the Clemson Sports information office to get the 1997 schedule so you can plan this major event. Much to your disappointment, you can't get an answer to this question. You are told the schedule won't be released until December 15.

This is probably the most confusing issue we deal with in the SID office, hence this article to explain why we can't give you much of an answer.

Three years ago the ACC began meeting in December to determine each team's conference schedule. The reason for the delay...television. The television networks wanted a schedule that creates good conference games each week. Obviously, for the ACC to be competitive with the other conferences when it comes to TV ratings it is imperative that there are marquee games each week.

To have a competitive game each week, you really can't do the schedule until the previous year is over. Even then it is a guess, but it is certainly easier than scheduling three or four years in advance.

With ABC and ESPN expanding their coverage, almost every conference in the country is waiting to December or January prior to the season to release its schedule. That is why Clemson played North Carolina on the first weekend of the season. That is why Illinois played Michigan and Washington played Arizona State to open the season.

So, those of you who think a full schedule exits, hidden in some vault in Greensboro, you are wrong. Up until this past year the Clemson SID office would tell a wedding planner a "tentative schedule" for a future season. We were emphatic about the possibility of changes, but when the changes were announced in December, we had some angry people who still went ahead and scheduled their events based on the old schedule. You can see by the chart on this page, that the 1996 schedule published in the 1995 Clemson Football Guide, and the actual 1996 schedule are dramatically different. Thus, it is senseless to publish a tentative future schedule.

1996 Schedule Comparison

First Published		Actual
		Aug. 31	at North Carolina
Sept. 7	Furman	Sept. 7	Furman
Sept.14	N.C. State	Sept.14	Open Date
Sept. 21	at Missouri	Sept. 21	at Missouri
Sept. 28	Georgia Tech	Sept. 28	Wake Forest
Oct. 5	at Virginia	Oct. 5	at Florida State
Oct. 12	Open Date	Oct. 12	at Duke
Oct. 19	Maryland	Oct. 19	Georgia Tech
Oct. 26	at Duke	Oct. 26	Open Date
Nov. 2	Wake Forest	Nov. 2	Maryland
Nov. 9	at Florida St.	Nov. 9	at Virginia
Nov. 16	at North Carolina	Nov. 16	N.C. State
Nov. 23	South Carolina	Nov. 23	South Carolina

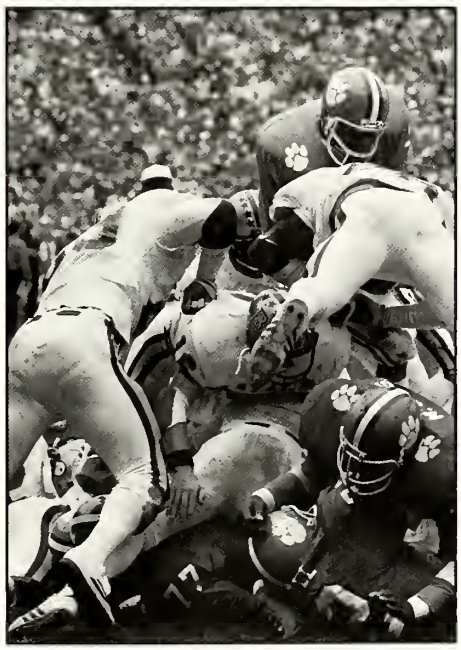
That is the bad news for those of you planing family nuptials or reunions. But, we do know the non-conference games and those should stay the same. We do know that Clemson will play at home against Appalachian State on September 6 next year. We do know the UTEP game will be at Death Valley on October 4 and the South Carolina contest in Columbia will be November 22. But, if you are making plans for September 13, October 11, or November 15...well you have a 50-50 chance of being right.

We have listed the tentative non-conference schedule through the year 2005. So if you are getting married in 2000 and don't want to have it the same weekend as a Clemson home football game, schedule it for September 16. That should be "National Clemson Wedding Day" for 2000. The Tigers will be at Texas A&M and since it is a non-conference game, it shouldn't change.

Speaking of non-conference games, we are publishing the list through the year 2005. Among Clemson's future non-conference games are Texas A&M, Baylor, Missouri, Tulane and Auburn.

Clemson and Auburn have not met on the gridiron since 1971, but will play a four-year series starting in 2005. The four-year contract will feature two games at Clemson and two at Auburn. The 2005 and 2007 games will be held at Clemson, and the 2006 and 2008 contests will be played at Auburn. All four games will take place on the first Saturday in September and are currently slated to be the season opener for each school in each season.

"There is a lot of history between Clemson and Auburn," said Tiger Head Coach Tommy West. "Professor (Walter) Riggs came from Auburn to start the football program at Clemson, so it goes all the way back to the 1890s. I think it will be a great rivalry, one that will replace the Georgia game for our fans. "



Baylor and Clemson have not met on the gridiron since 1979. The series will be renewed in 1999.

"This series makes a lot of sense geographically," said Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "It will be an easy drive for both schools fans and it is a series that should have national interest. It will be a great way to kickoff the college football season for both schools."

The teams last met in 1971 when a fifth-ranked Auburn team led by Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sulllivan, handed Clemson a 35-13 defeat. Clemson's last victory over the War Eagles took place in 1951, a 34-0 Clemson triumph. It gave Clemson five wins in six outings against Auburn between 1946 and 1951. The 34-18 Clemson win in 1947 over Auburn featured the greatest quarterback performance in Clemson history. Bobby Gage threw for four touchdowns and gained 374 yards in total offense, both Clemson single game records, in the Tiger triumph. The following year Clemson won 7-6 in Mobile, a key victory in Clemson's drive to a perfect season in 1948.

The first three coaches in Clemson football history were Auburn graduates. Walter Riggs, Clemson's first head coach and later University President, was Clemson's coach in 1896 and 1899 and was an 1893 Auburn graduate. William Williams, Clemson's mentor in 1897, was an 1896 Auburn grad, while John Penton, Clemson's head coach in the fall of 1898, had graduated from Auburn in the previous spring.

Clemson Volleyball

By Jessica Reo

The future looks bright for the Tigers in volleyball. With the return of four starters to the Tiger lineup, there can be nothing but clear skies and sunny days ahead. In 1996, Clemson came off of its third straight winning season with Jolene Jordan Hoover at the head of the program, quite an accomplishment when you consider the fact that the Tigers have appeared in the ACC Championship final, have finished second in the conference two of the last three years, and have appeared in the NCAA Championships two out of the past three years.

"I am very, very excited about this year," states Hoover. "I think that this season is going to be tremendous. What's going to be the key is how well our incoming freshmen make the transition to the collegiate game. We need one or two of the freshmen to step up, and I think that will happen, which is going to make us deeper."

The Tigers return their best to the starting lineup, three AVCA All-Region team members, in Ashley Self, Julie Rodriguez, and Michelle Thieke, and the ACC Freshman-of-the-Year, Stephanie Schulz. Rodriguez, Thieke, and Self were named to All-ACC teams, the first such honor for both Self and Thieke, who earned her starting spot as the setter for the Tigers only last season. Rodriguez hit the pinnacle of 1,000 kills during her junior season, assuring her a slot in the Clemson record books.

Stephanie Schulz, the ACC Rookie-of-the-Year, was named to the ACC All-Freshman team and grabbed two ACC Rookie-of-the-Week honors in 1995. Schulz should continue in her middle blocker starting role for the Tigers in 1996.

The remaining two spots, vacated by graduates Megan McEnery and Nancy McGinty, leave some room for experimentation and the chance for a team member to define herself in a starting role.

"Prior to 1996, we haven't been in a position to be very deep on the bench. That's been a growing process every year. This year we will carry 16 women, 12 who will travel. That makes for a very competitive environment in practice, and we haven't had the luxury of having that so far. I think that will make the year fun, it will make it challenging, and it will make it exciting. I think it will put some pressure on the players in practice, something they need to have so the pressures of each match aren't as great," says Hoover.

Self, Rodriguez, and red-shirt senior Jill Heavey, made up Jolene Jordan Hoover's first-ever recruiting class as the Clemson Tiger head coach. This year should be special for all of them with the level that the Tigers have reached under the direction of Hoover. "I consider them my pioneers," says Hoover. "When I first received the job at Clemson in December of 1992, those three took a chance on Clemson and on the dream that we could get into the NCAA's and we could do well in the ACC's. For them to come in and all start their freshman year and impact the program in the way that they did is something special. That speaks volumes now that they are our senior class."

Along with the strength of the four returning starters, Clemson has one of the most devastatingly strong benches in the league. Jill Heavey returns to full strength to take her red-shirt junior season to a new level. Marci Caudle returns as a junior after contributing significantly to the season in 1995. Blythe Gardner returns for her junior season as a defensive specialist for the Tiger team. She has added both depth and experience to a number of positions for Hoover. Stacey Wagner, a senior who played her first year with Clemson in 1995 after transferring from UNC-Charlotte, should get more playing time in 1996.

Add to that five recruits, and the Tigers have a strong and healthy look in 1996. "We've got a lot of possibilities for this year. We've got a lot of people who can play more than one position, which is going to be fun, because there are a lot of different ways we can move the lineup around. We can capitalize on our strengths and we can capitalize on our opponents by moving our players around a little bit. I'm very optimistic," says Hoover.

The coaching staff had one of its most successful recruiting classes in Hoover's time with the Tigers, signing five for the 1996 season. Alison Coday, Emily Gorla, Cindy Stern, Mary Trull, and Skye Frost should add depth to the Tiger lineup that has been lacking in years past. One of Hoover's first recruits, Julie Rodriguez, was named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Year in 1993, becoming the first Tiger in Clemson volleyball history to win that award. In 1995, true-freshman Stephanie Schulz became the second Tiger to garner the ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honor.

Overall, the Tiger signees should be able to come in and compete for the two empty starting slots, but will have to compete with a full bench for playing time. They will have to slide into the tough practices and make it through the transition of high school to the collegiate volleyball game.

The Tigers have put together one of their toughest schedules yet, competing against nationally known programs within the first few weeks of the season. Couple that with ACC foes that have become stronger and stronger over the past few years, and Clemson has one of the most demanding schedules in the country.

Tiger Soccer

by Sam Blackman

The race against the clock has started.

With only five starters returning and a large cast of freshmen coming to campus, the length of time it takes the freshmen to mature may be the big factor in Clemson's men's soccer fortunes this fall. Another area Clemson Head Coach Trevor Adair must address is finding the right chemistry for his versatile team.

The Tigers have a large contingent in the rookie class. These 10 freshmen will be joining a team that gained momentum last year by finishing fifth nationally in the final Soccer America poll and making a trip to the NCAA tournament. Clemson also had a solid 16-6-1 record overall against a top schedule and defeated three tough ACC opponents on the road.

"Last year we made some strides going to the NCAA Tournament, peaking at the right time, and performing well at the ACC Tournament," said Adair. "I felt as though we were getting in rhythm at the end of the season.

"We are going to have young players who must have an impact right away. We recruited a lot of speed and versatility. Many of our freshman class can play as both forwards and midfielders.

"We have the luxury of being able to move people around and changing our formations. What I expect from us this year is to be more of an attacking team, utilizing our speed and talent—not that we didn't do that last year. We tried to find a balance between our offense and defense last year. Now the players know what to expect defensively and I feel we will be more balanced.

"The recruiting efforts were centered around bringing in attacking type of players—we have to replace some very high profile seniors who scored the majority of our goals last year. Because of our depth in attack, you can expect our scoring to be much more spread out than it was last year.

"We are going to be young in some areas and we will call on some inexperienced players to step in right away. One advantage to our youth is that many of these players have played internationally and nationally, and hopefully the transition will be quick for these freshmen."

The freshmen showed they might be more advanced than some previous classes when the Tigers traveled to the west coast and upset third-ranked Portland, 3-0. The win moved Clemson into the top 20 in both polls.

Clemson features one of the nation's premier goalkeepers in junior Matt Jordan. In 1995, Jordan started 22 games and gave up only 17 goals. He led the Atlantic Coast Conference in goals allowed average (0.79) and save pct. (.809). He also had 72 saves in being named second-team All-ACC last year.

"Matt Jordan had a tremendous year in 1995 and made great improvement this past spring. I think his next two years will be his best. He will become a more complete goalkeeper in all areas. His range and his decision making have both improved. His work ethic has propelled him to where he is now. He could be one of the best goalkeepers in the country."

Clemson has suffered some losses on the defense, as Justin Rose and Dana Quick have left the school for personal reasons. However, junior Tony Williams and senior Craig Wenning do return. Williams started 17 games last year after a preseason injury.

"Defensively, Tony Williams played great in the spring. We may even play him in the midfield. He can get up and down the field with his excellent speed, and that is an asset on the flanks. Wenning will probably play on the left. He has good speed and likes to comes forward. He did a great job in the midfield last season, but we need him more in the back. Other returnees include Chris Behrmann and Jeff Bilyk. Behrman is a senior from St. Louis, MO, while Bilyk, five starts in 12 games, is a sophomore from Bayport, NY.

Danny must take care of the ball for Clemson to have a successful 1996 season.

Clemson added freshman Christian Baldwin to the roster on defense. Baldwin was selected the Gatorade Player-of-the Year in the state of Louisiana in 1995. That same year, his club team was the national finalist.

Clemson returns two starters in the midfield after Wenning was moved to the back. Senior Danny Care and sophomore Jason Kamlet are the returning starters. Care is the Tigers leading returning scorer as he had 10 assists and four goals for 18 points. Kamlet had two goals and three assists for seven points. Kamlet started 19 games as a freshman in 1995.

"Danny Care will take on much responsibility in the midfield as far as organization and leadership. Jason will be a solid performer in the center of the midfield.

The midfield will also have its share of freshmen as Jeremy Iwaszkowiec, Nathan Rawlins, Eric Quill, Chad James, Paul Stalteri, and Ryan Conway could battle for positions in the midfield.

"During the first month, it has been interesting to see who establishes themselves on the flanks in the midfield. We have more balance this year because both Nathan Rawlins and Eric Quill are naturally left footed. This is an asset we lacked last year." Jeff Yenzer, Bryan Sproviero, and Chad James are on the right flank. Yenzer scored four goals in the season opening win over UNC-Asheville and had 11 points in the first three games.

Clemson has John Wilson and Jody DeBruin returning at the striker positions after they served as dependable reserves in 1995. DeBruin played in 15 games last year and scored one goal and had two assists for four points. The native of Seneca, SC finished the year with five goals and three assists for 13 points. This season his goal and assist keyed the win at Portland.

"We have a lot of players in this area. Jody DeBruin and John Wilson work well together. Our forwards need to step to the next level and establish themselves. Our signees could also step in and make an immediate impact."

Clemson forward signees include Chad James, Eric Quill, Jeremy Iwaszkowiec, and Paul Stalteri.

Chad James is a member of the Region II Olympic Development team. Eric Quill is a member of the United States U20 National team, while Iwaszkowiec was the Gatorade Player-of-the-Year for the state of Missouri. Stalteri is a member of the Canadian under 20 national team.

Today's Band Program

By Meredith Merritt

Silence. It is twelve noon on a sunny, cool fall Saturday. The players are arriving by bus to run down the hill, but there is no noise. No usual playing of Tiger Rag, no excitement and enthusiasm that rocks the crowd during every home game. Imagine Clemson football at Death Valley without the Tiger Band.

For 40 years now the "Band That Shakes The Southland" has added pageantry and color to the pregame and halftime festivities. But the band doesn't stop there. During the inaugural season of the Carolina Panthers, last year at Memorial Stadium, the band played for every home game. And, it was the first college band in history to perform at a NASCAR Winston Cup Series event- the 1993 Hooters 500 NASCAR race at the Atlanta Motor Speedway. Needless to say the band does more than it's call of duty.

Today's game will be an exciting one from the very moment the band takes the field. During traditional pregame shows the band makes it's entrance to the tune of "Sock It To 'Em/Tiger Rag." Under the direction of Dr. Mark Hosler, the band then performs one of John Phillip Sousa's most famous marches, "The Washington Post." It is at this time the crowd will direct it's attention to the 35-yard line and the parents of the senior trainers, managers and players will be presented.

The band then continues the pregame show by honoring America with "God Bless America." After the invocation, the crowd remains standing for the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of the National Anthem. Afterwards many different ACC and other awards will be presented. The recipients of these awards are: Meredith Ford (ACC Academic Award), Andye McCrorey (ACC Academic Award), Warren Forney (Brian Piccolo Award) , Wendy Henson (ACC Rookie-of-the-Year), Stephanie Schulz (ACC Rookie-of-the-Year), Anthony Simmons (ACC Rookie-of-the-Year) , Brian Haecker (ACC Diver-of-the-Year), Sophie Woorons (ACC Player-of-the-Year), Larry Penley (ACC Golf Coach-of-the-Year), Wayne Coffman (ACC Indoor Track anf Field Coach-of-the-Year). It is now time for singing of the Alma Mater.

Tiger band will then march and position themselves to form the script "Tigers" across the field. Everyone will direct their attention to the 35-yard line where the Mother-of-the-Year recipient Mrs. Mary Morgan will walk out and dot the "i." Every year Tiger Brotherhood has a mother selected for this prestigious award based upon her community activities and Clemson loyalty . Each year the mother is presented to the fans during the Parent's Day game.

As the anticipation of the team grows the band positions itself into the shape of a tunnel , the traditional entrance of the team, at the east end of Memorial Stadium and plays "Tiger Rag". By now the crowd is filled with shouting and clapping as the band starts playing "Sock 'Em/ Tiger Rag." Then at the designated moment , the cannon fires and the frenzy begins. The team, as it touches the rock and runs down the hill, gains momentum from the band and the crowd until they come pouring out of the tunnel. No wonder people call this the, "most exciting 25 seconds in college football."

The band members then retire to the stands. But before too long it is halftime and the band is ready to entertain the crowd. During today's halftime show the band will present a salute to the Beatles featuring several of their #1 hits such as: "She Love You," "Can't Buy Me Love," "I Want To Hold Your Hand, " and others. Following the conclusion of the show the Tiger band will honor the Clemson athletes who participated in the Summer Olympics.

Needless to say the Tiger band does much more than just play at sporting events. They create an atmosphere, a feeling that can be felt by every tiger fan.

The athletic departament would like to thank Tiger Band for their dedication and commitment to Clemson University and Clemson Football. They are an enormous part in sparking the Clemson spirit in fans all over the nation.

The Clemson Flag line is an intricate part of the Tiger Band's pregame and halftime performance.

Running Down the Hill

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. Afterall, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shut outs in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—243 times heading into the 1996 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag' and the frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

THE LAST WORD

By Bob Bradley

There are five players listed in the Clemson football media guide for their excellence in all-purpose yardage (rushing, receiving, kickoff, punt, and interception returns) in one game.

George Usry's name is not among them.

But of those listed, two of them have taken place since Usry's game against Wake Forest in Death Valley in 1959 when he had 191 all-purpose yards. That means that 'Pogo,' the nickname he was tagged with by his teammates, would have been listed as No. 4 at that time.

And he would have been in some pretty fast company, too, as the three ahead of him were Billy Hair, Jackie Calvert, and Ray Mathews.

This particular Wake Forest game, no doubt is one of the five most exciting ever played on the storied soil of Memorial Stadium. The final score was 33-31 in Clemson's favor and the 34,000 on hand were completely wrung out. Head coach Frank Howard made the comment in his press conference afterwards that they should lock the gates and make everyone pay to get out because of the excitement surrounding the game.

I remember Furman Bisher was covering the game when Usry scored what proved to be the winning touchdown. 'Bish' turned around and asked: "Does anyone remember how the first touchdown was made?"

And that's just about as fast-paced as it was.

Clemson led only twice—27-24 with 8:16 to play, and at the end of the game. There was a 14-all deadlock midway through the second quarter, but the Deacons kicked a field goal to take a three-point halftime lead.

Usry, who earned 13 letters in four sports at Waycross (GA) High School before coming to Clemson, had the best rushing day of his collegiate career that day, piling up 77 yards on 10 attempts.

He also had one pass reception for five yards, a kickoff return and a punt return, each good for 18 yards and an interception return of 73 yards, which set up the winning touchdown, which he scored.

In Clemson's first offensive possession, the Tigers had moved to the Wake Forest 35, 31 of the 42 yards coming on the right end sweep by the senior running back. But Harvey White's pass was picked off at the 31 and returned 69 yards by Bobby Robinson (not the current Clemson athletic director) for a score.

Clemson again moved downfield, this time to the Deacon 15, and Usry had two runs totalling 15 yards in this drive. Later, Ron Scrudato returned an intercepted pass to the goal line and Doug Daigneault scored, but the Tigers missed the extra point.

Doug Cline's two-yard slam and a two-point play knotted the count at 14 with 6:42 left in the first half. The Deacons had to settle for a field goal after a drive stalled at the Clemson three and Chuck Reiley stopped Clemson's last first-half threat just past the 50 with an interception.

Clemson fell behind at one time in the third quarter by 10, 24-14, and that was the period that Usry had both of his returns of 36 yards, one on a kickoff, the other on a punt.

George Usry had one of the great all-around games in Clemson history in the thrilling 33-31 victory over Wake Forest in 1959.

But, Usry was saving 103 of his 191 yards until the fourth quarter when the Tigers were really going to need him.

Harry Pavilack set the table for Clemson's first lead when he returned a Wayne Wolff punt for 48 yards to the Deacon 24.On the first play, Usry went through center for eight and on a first-and-10 at the Deacons 12, he smashed through guard for six more. Doug Cline took two runs to punch the ball across for a 27-24 Tiger lead.

However, the Deacons were on the their knees, but not out. . . far from it. John Morris brought the kickoff back 58 yards, and in four plays, Wake Forest was back in the lead and there was just 6:40 to play.

On the first play after the kickoff, Wake Forest recovered a fumble at the Clemson 30 and things really looked dark for the Tigers.

Norman Snead, the great Deacon quarterback who passed for 196 yards that day, was on the sidelines, but could not re-enter the game because of a crazy substitution rule at the time where a player could only come back in once during the quarter.

On a third-and-four from the Clemson 24, Reiley lofted a soft pass out in the flat, which Usry came up and intercepted and returned 73 yards before being brought down at the 10. This was only Usry's second interception of his career and he would end up with just three. . . all coming in his last five Clemson games.

Bill Mathis skirted end for eight yards, but the play was called back and the Deacons were penalized to the one for a personal foul. On the next play, Usry hurdled the line for the winning score with 4:24 left to play.

After the ensuing kickoff, Bob DeBardelaben threw Snead for a 13-yard loss from his end position before Pavilack intercepted a pass. From the 50 Clemson ran the clock out as Usry put together runs of eight and seven yards. Three more plays after his last run, the game ended.

Clemson owned the biggest part of the statistics, having 21 first downs rushing to three for the Deacons, and a 23-10 edge overall. But in the end, the Tigers only had a 32-yard advantage in total yardage. Clemson suffered three interceptions, Wake two and the Tigers lost two of three fumbles.

The two teams combined for 1,207 all-purpose yards, and Usry could claim better than 15 percent of that...nearly 10 percent in the final quarter.

Usry graduated in electrical engineering in 1961, but before getting his degree, he married Lynn Dubose, a Clemson resident and daughter of Louise and Charlie Dubose. Lynn's father owned a sundry/drug store/bus station where TD's is now located downtown. The Usrys now have three children and three grandchildren — two boys and a girl.
